This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. # LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL.

MICHIGAN,
DEPARTMENT OF STATE,
Lansing, December 15, 1896.

HON. JOHN T. RICH, Governor:

SIR—I have the honor to submit herewith the Census of this State as compiled from data taken in June, 1894. The preliminary work was begun during the administration of my immediate predecessor, the Hon. John W. Jochim.

In respectfully calling your attention to the merits of the work, I desire to say that whatever excellencies it may possess are due more largely than to any other, to Mr. Robert L. Hewitt, long the able chief of the agricultural division. The importance of his services in formulating the schedules for use of the enumerators, as well as in the compilation of the work can hardly be overestimated.

Very respectfully yours,

WASHINGTON GARDNER,

Secretary of State.

THE INDIANS OF MICHIGAN

THE CESSION OF THEIR LANDS TO THE UNITED STATES BY INDIAN TREATIES,

WITH MAP.

BY THE LATE EX-GOVERNOR OF THE STATE, ALPHEUS FELCH.

A paper read before the Michigan Pioneer and Historical Society at its annual meeting held at Lansing, June 6 and 7, 1894.

[Reprint from Pioneer and Historical Collections, Vol. 26.]

THE INDIANS OF MICHIGAN,

AND

THE CESSION OF THEIR LANDS TO THE UNITED STATES BY TREATIES.

BY ALPHEUS FELCH.*

The State of Michigan covers an area of 57,430 square miles, or more than 36,000,000 of acres of land. Of the fifteen nations of Europe, five cover a less extent of territory each than Michigan, which is only a fractional part of our nation and but one in a sisterhood of forty-four associated states.

The acquisition of the territory of a nation often forms the subject of the most thrilling and bloody chapter in its history. Its broad acres are the mother of its prosperity, the cultivation of them is the source of its physical and moral well-being. With the thousand blessings which surround us on every hand and call to us for thankful hearts we may well pause for a moment to inquire whence came the gift of this goodly heritage; through whose hands have the dominion and the ownership of these broad acres passed, and when and where and how have we become the possessors—and this is the subject of my brief paper.

History tells us nothing of the territory or of the inhabitants of the country constituting the present State of Michigan until within a comparatively modern period, and tradition speaks in language vague and unreliable.

FIRST VISIT BY WHITE MEN.

In the autumn of 1641, a little more than two hundred and fifty years ago, two Jesuit priests, Fathers Jogues and Raymbault, made a visit to this portion of the country. They crossed the St. Mary's river and entered within our borders at the point where the waters of Lake Superior are poured over the falls from their immense reservoir. They were greeted on the shore by a concourse of not less than two thousand Indians, and to them they preached the gospel of the Christian religion. Neither history nor tradition gives us any account of earlier intercourse between civilized men of the white race and the red man of the forest within our borders. The stay of the Fathers was very brief and they returned to the field of their missionary labors in Canada.

* Governor of Michigan in 1846, U. S. Senator 1847-53, and 90 years of age at the writing of this article.—G. H. G.

Michigan was at that time emphatically the home of the savage. Its wandering tribes had never heard of the arts or the sciences, or of the refinements or comforts of civilized life. The bold daring and cruelties of war were their glory and they had little taste for the softer feelings of humanity in which the civilized man delights. They were simply hunters and fishers and warriors. The aborigines of some other portions of America had made some progress towards civilization, but these had taken no step in that direction. The aborigines of Mexico had become cultivators of the soil and were skilled in some branches of the arts. The Cherokees of Georgia and the Iroquois of New York were settled in permanent habitations and obtained a comfortable livelihood in a great measure, by cultivating the soil. Not so with the dwellers here at the time of the visit of the Fathers in 1641. They were simply untutored savages, with all the superstition, ignorance, cruelty and degradation inseparable from purely savage life in the forest.

There were at that time three tribes of Indians within the limits of the present State of Michigan, namely: the Ojibwas or Chippewas, the Ottawas and the Potawatamies. There was also a band or division of the Miami tribe of Indians which had a lodgment at the mouth of the St. Joseph river of Lake Michigan, and who were visited by Marquette as early as 1675. A fort was built there by La Salle in 1679, and subsequently a Mission was established by the Jesuits, but both have long since ceased to exist; and in 1715, the Indians, at the instigation of Cadillac, removed to the vicinity of Fort Wayne in Indiana. They never returned to Michigan and their tribe has never made claim to any lands within the borders of the State.

The number of Indians within the limits of the State, at the time of the first visit of white men, it is impossible even to approximate, but they were scattered very sparsely through the forest, without permanent habitations and depending on the chase and the natural productions of the earth for subsistence. One might have traveled for days in almost any direction without seeing an Indian. The point where the Fathers entered our territory was the place where the aborigines mostly congregated for the benefit of the fishing at the Sault, and at no other spot within our limits could so large a number have been found together.

THE THREE TRIBES.

The Chippewas or Ojibwas, Ottawas and Potawatamies were of the Algonquin family of Indians and were kindred tribes. Their traditions recite that their fathers came long centuries agone, from the salt water of the Atlantic about the Gulf of St. Lawrence; and it seems almost certain that they were driven west by a more powerful enemy—probably the ancestors of the warlike Iroquois. The three tribes were originally together in their western home, but finally separated, more for the convenience of occupying different hunting grounds than for any other reason. Warren, the historian of the Ojibwas, says that the separation took place at the Sault de Ste. Marie. The friendly association of these three tribes is also mentioned by Parkman, who says they had long been banded together in a loose confederacy; and he designates the Ojibwas and Potawatamies as kindred and the Ottawas as their friends.

THE HURONS OR WYANDOTS.

In 1649, eight years after the visit of Jogues and Raymbault, another tribe was added to the Indians of Michigan. They were the Hurons or Wyandots. They did not belong to the Algonquin family but were a portion of a once powerful nation residing on the Georgian Bay and the east shore of Lake Huron. Their origin is not known, but in their habits, in the permanence of their habitations, and their devotion to agricultural pursuits, they resemble the Iroquois, yet between the two peoples the most cruel and unquenchable hatred existed. It had just culminated in a bloody victory for the Iroquois, and the Huron nation at its old abiding place was utterly destroyed. The survivors of its people fled from their ancient home. A portion sought refuge on the borders of the Great Lakes and were well received by the three tribes of Algonquins in Michigan. They were pursued by the enmity of the Iroquois from the east and by the savage Dacotahs from the west and were compelled to escape from their first place of refuge which was near the west end of Lake Superior. They first went to Michilimackinac and afterwards to Detroit. They finally settled along the banks of the Detroit river and the west end of Lake Erie, and in still larger numbers at Sandusky, in Ohio. It is manifest also that their people were dispersed broadly through the country in small bands or perhaps single families, generally making their resting place on the bank of some stream, and frequently the stream was made to bear the name of their nation. Thus we have had within the limits of our State no less than five streams known by the name of Huron river. The legislative council of the territory on the 17th of July, 1824, declared that the rivers and places bearing the name of Huron were so numerous as to lead to confusion, uncertainty and inconvenience, and by solemn act they changed the name of the Huron river of Lake St. Clair to that of Clinton, which name it now bears.*

THE FOUR TRIBES.

Thus from 1649, when the Hurons or Wyandots settled within our borders, the aboriginal tribes who might claim rights in the possession of the country were increased to four in number, the Ojibwas or Chippewas, the Ottawas, the Potawatamies, and the Hurons or Wyandots. These tribes usually acted together and in harmony. They fought with the French and against the English in the war which ended with the conquest of Canada on the Plains of Abraham in 1759. They were with the English and against the Americans in the war of the revolution. They were, with few exceptions, with the British army in the war of 1812. They were actors in the bloody scenes of Wayne's campaigns in Ohio. They were at the memorable siege of Detroit in 1762, standing together as one solid band of brothers ready to execute the most desperate commands of Pontiac, chief of the Ottawas, and the most able and daring of warriors.

With these four tribes in occupancy in the loose manner of Indian possession, we come to an inquiry into the history of the title to the lands within our State. Whence and how and when was it derived?

* See Appendix A.

THE TITLE OF THE UNITED STATES.

From time immemorial the nation whose subjects have discovered a new country either uninhabited or with a sparse population of uncivilized natives has claimed, as against other civilized nations at least, exclusive right of domain. Under this rule France first claimed title to an immense region in North America of which Michigan is a part. Under this claim and by virtue of a partial possession she held and governed it for one hundred and forty-eight years, from 1612 to 1760. From the last mentioned year until 1783 it was held and governed in like manner by Great Britain, when, by the treaty of peace at the close of the war of the revolution, it passed to the government of the United States. This was followed by a cession by Virginia and several other states to the general government of all claims to the northwestern territory. Thus the United States became the undisputed owner of all rights, jurisdictional and proprietary, theretofore acquired by the parties above named by virtue of discovery, conquest, possession, or in any other manner with the single exception that the rights of individual owners under previous grant should he held sacred. These grants were made by both England and France, but they were few in number and all have since been confirmed by our government and the proper evidence of title given to the claimants.

THE RIGHTS OF THE INDIANS.

All rights of foreign claimants were thus early secured, but the aborigines of the country still roamed in the forests in pursuit of game and pushed their light canoes along the streams and occupied their temporary wigwams and lived the miserable life of the untutored savage. Had these no rights in the land where they and their fathers were born and had spent their lives? Could they be expelled by intruders without their consent and without compensation? These are questions which attracted the attention of the government at an early day. In 1789 the subject was very ably discussed by General Knox, then secretary of war, in a report made to President Washington, in which the policy of negotiation with the Indian tribes and of obtaining from them amicable cessions of lands by treaty was strongly urged. He refers to some action of congress under the confederation as implying a belief that, by the treaty of peace of 1783, the government was absolutely invested with the fee of all the Indian lands and a full and unqualified right to the same. But he combats this idea and insists that the Indians, being the prior occupants, possess the right to the soil, and that it cannot be taken from them unless by their own free consent or by conquest in case of a just war. And this view of the subject being accepted by common consent, the practice has ever since prevailed of obtaining a cession of the Indian title by purchase and the payment of a stipulated compensation. The system of negotiation with the Indians as tribes or nations and making all purchases in public council where all could be heard, once adopted, has assumed vast importance in the economic progress of the nation. Vast tracts of land have thus been thrown open to settlement and private ownership, and sums of money, reckoned by the many millions, have been paid and still continue to be paid for them to the original possessors from the public treasury.

THE EARLIEST INDIAN TREATIES.

The earliest of Indian treaties were sent by President Washington to the Senate, May 25, 1789, and on the 17th of September following, no action upon them having been had by the Senate, he called attention to them by another message expressing his opinion that ratification by the Senate was necessary to their validity. The matter was referred to a committee, who, on the next day, reported that ratification was not necessary. No formal action on this report appears, but the custom of the approval of Indian treaties in the same manner as in the case of treaties with foreign nations was silently adopted and has ever since prevailed.

We will now refer to the several treaties by which the Indian title to the lands in Michigan passed to the United States.

THE TREATY OF FORT STANWIX, 1784.

The first Indian treaty made by our government on the subject of land was made at Fort Stanwix in the State of New York, with the Six Nations, or Iroquois, in October, 1784. This treaty defines the west limits of the lands of the Iroquois by a line nearly coincident with the east line of Ohio and they yield to the United States all claim to the land west of it.

TREATY OF FORT McINTOSH, 1785.

The next treaty negotiated and the first making a cession of land in Michigan was made at Fort McIntosh, January 21, 1785, with the Wyandot, Delaware, Chippewa and Ottawa nations.

By the seventh article of this treaty there is "reserved to the sole use of the United States," the following: "The post of Detroit with a district beginning at the mouth of the Rosine (Raisin) on the west end of Lake Erie and running west six miles up the southern bank of said river, thence northerly and always six miles west of the strait until it strikes the Lake St. Clair." And by the eighth article "the post of Michilimackinac with its dependencies and twelve miles square about the same" are reserved in like manner.

TREATY OF FORT HARMER, 1789.

By treaty negotiated by General St. Clair at Fort Harmer on the 9th day of January, 1789, with the Wyandot, Delaware, Ottawa, Chippewa, Potawatamie and Sac nations, the above described concessions at Detroit and Michilimackinac are confirmed, and it is stated that the Wyandots, having represented that they had two villages within their reservation along the Detroit river from which they could not conveniently remove, it is agreed that they shall not be disturbed in the possession of the same.

From the date of the above treaties the public archives (American State Papers, Vol. V) are full of official reports of depredations, outrages and murders committed by the Indians in the northwest. The British forts, in violation of the treaty stipulations, had not yet been given up. It was manifest that the Indians were excited and urged on in their desperate acts by British officials who still remained in the country. The result was massacres without number and a hostile combination of different tribes which compelled Washington to call out the militia and to meet force with force.

In March, 1793, Benjamin Lincoln, Beverly Randolph and Timothy Pickering, three of the most eminent men of their time, were appointed commissioners for negotiating a treaty with the Indians of the northwest. The council was to be held at Sandusky. The confederate tribes were holding a private council at the Rapids of the Maumee. Several delegations were sent by them to talk with the commissioners and discussions were had about restoring friendly relations and about the lands claimed by the several tribes. The commissioners urged the meeting of the council for negotiating a treaty, but the Indians continually procrastinated. The commissioners finally went to the mouth of the Detroit river and were there met by a delegation from the confederates, who delivered a speech and listened to the reply and arguments of the commissioners. They remained four weeks in communication with individual members of the confederation urging the meeting of the council for negotiating the promised treaty, but without avail. Finally, on the 16th day of August, 1793, they received an absolute refusal to treat at all and they departed for their homes.

Then followed the sad conflict which constitutes so exciting a chapter in the early history of the northwest and especially of Ohio. The repulse of the Indians at Fort Recovery, the gallant conduct which signalized the campaign of General Wayne and the splendid victory at the Maumee Rapids alone opened the way for ending the contest and restoring peace.

TREATY OF GREENVILLE, 1795.

The treaty of Greenville followed. It was negotiated by General Wayne, as United States Commissioner, with the Wyandots, Delawares, Shawanese, Ottawas, Chippewas, Potawatamies, Miamis, Eel Rivers, Weas, Kickapoos, Piankishaws, and Kaskaskias, and was concluded on the third day of March, 1795. These were the confederate tribes which had allied themselves together in deadly hostility to the Americans and sought to expel them from the western country.

By this treaty all hostilities were to cease and peace was to be perpetual. All prisoners were to be surrenderd and ten Indian chiefs were to remain with the whites as hostages until this was done. A new line of boundary between the lands of the Indians and the United States in Ohio was established, enlarging the possessions of the latter, and several other tracts elsewhere within the territory claimed by different tribes were ceded. In the cessions thus made are included lands in Michigan described as follows: The post of Detroit and all the lands to the north, the west and the south of it of which the Indian title has been extinguished by gifts or grants to the French or English governments, and so much more land, to be annexed to the district of Detroit as shall be comprehended between the River Rosine (Raisin) on the south, Lake St. Clair on the north, and a line the general course whereof shall be six miles distant from the west end of Lake Erie and Detroit river. Also the post of Michilimackinac and all the land on the island on which the post stands and the main land adjacent of which the Indian title has been extinguished by gifts or grants to the French or English governments, and a piece of land on the main to the north of the island to measure six miles on Lake Huron or the strait between Lakes Huron and Michigan, and to extend three miles back from the water of the lake or strait; also the island De Bois Blanc, being an extra and voluntary gift of the Chippewa nation.

The treaty of Greenville is one of the most important ever made with the Indian nations and the council at which it was made was one of the most imposing. The sachems and chiefs who were in attendance discussed very fully the subjects of the treaty. In the American State papers, published under the authority of congress, will be found a report of the many speeches made by the chiefs, and few reports of discussions in deliberative assemblies or of debates in congress can be found that are more interesting.

INCIDENTS OF THE COUNCIL AT GREENVILLE, 1795.

In this council the four great Indian nations of Michigan, the Wyandots, the Chippewas, the Ottawas, and the Potawatamies, were present by their several chiefs and valiant warriors and they constituted a prominent feature of the assemblage.

New-corn, an aged Potawatamie chief, came with forty followers and was introduced to the council. "I come," he said, "on the good work of peace. I come from Lake Michigan. Had you seen me in former days you would have beheld a great and brave chief, but now I am old and burdened with the weight of years. My nation consists of one thousand men who live at Detroit and between Detroit and Lake Michigan. Twenty-three chiefs of that nation are inferior to me in command." He asks to surrender the old medals won by his warriors and given by the British and to be furnished with General Washington's. "My young men will no longer listen to the former. They have thrown off the British and henceforth will view the Americans as their only friends."

Nash-i-pi-nash-i-wish, a Chippewa chief, speaking for the Chippewas, Ottawas and Potawatamies, exclaims: "Look at your warriors around you and view ours. Does it not give you pleasure to see us all meet together in brotherly love? I was not disposed to take up the hatchet against you; it was forced into my hands by the white people. I throw it into the middle of the deepest lake from whence no mortal can bring it back. Brother, I have thrown my hatchet into the bottomless lake from whence it will never return. I hope you will also throw yours so far that it may never again be found."

A-goosh-a-way came with the following of twenty-three Ottawas from the vicinity of Detroit, and Masass, a Chippewa chief, with twenty of his tribe.

A question arose in the council as to the validity of the treaty ceding lands which was made at Fort Harmer on the Muskingum in 1789, and some of the Ottawas, Chippewas and Potawatamies denied any knowledge of it. But Masass arose and said that he was present at the making of the treaty and had it now here in his hand to show them—that he had come for the sole purpose of exhibiting it. He presented a belt with nine white squares wrought in beads, and said: "This great calumet comes not from the little lake near us but from the great Lake Superior to the north, from whence our great chiefs and warriors come. When I returned from the treaty of Muskingum I repeated the substance of its proceedings to my nation. You, therefore, see that your words have gone a great ways, even to Lake Superior. Brother, I live at a great distance from you, but when you call a council I hear your voice immediately and I come without delay. You now see all your brothers around you. We are well acquainted with what we are now doing and what we have done heretofore. The white beads in this belt denote the number of large villages from the north who have heard your word."

The commissioner settled the question as to the validity of the cession of lands by former treaties by saying that they had been twice paid for, by the treaty of Fort McIntosh and that of Muskingum, but nevertheless, such was the justice and liberality of the government that they would again make compensation for them.

No further cession of land in Michigan was made during the twelve years which succeeded the treaty of Greenville in 1795. In the meantime the territory of Michigan was established and organized; a strong tide of immigration was setting in and the purchase of the Indian title became more and more a matter of national importance.

TREATY OF DETROIT, 1807.

In 1807 President Jefferson thought it desirable that the entire eastern half of Michigan should be released from the Indian title, and he commissioned General Hull, then governor of the territory, to negotiate a treaty for that purpose. A council was accordingly held by him at Detroit with the sachems, chiefs and warriors of the Chippewas, Ottawas, Wyandots and Potawatamies, which resulted in a treaty concluded on the 17th day of November, 1807.

By this treaty the United States acquired the Indian title to that portion of Michigan which lies east of a line drawn north from the mouth of the AuGlaize river in Ohio to a point due west of the outlet of Lake Huron and thence northerly to White Rock on Lake Huron. This line follows the dividing line between the counties of Lenawee and Hillsdale, and thence through Jackson and Ingham, along the line between Shiawassee and Clinton counties to near the middle of the same, and thence by direct course to White Rock, near the southeast corner of Huron county. The territory covered by this cession embraces the present counties of Monroe, Lenawee, Wayne, Washtenaw, Macomb, Oakland, Livingston, St. Clair, Lapeer and Genesee, and a portion of Jackson, Ingham, Shiawassee, Tuscola and Sanilac.

It will be observed that the boundaries of this cession embrace the entire tract lying along the Detroit river and the west end of Lake Erie, which was ceded by the several treaties of Fort McIntosh, Fort Harmer or Muskingum and Greenville, thus making the fourth purchase of the Indian title thereto. Within its limits are also embraced the settlements of the Wyandots along the borders of the river and lake, a people who had made further advances than any of the other tribes towards the sedentary and industrial habits of civilized life.

THE EXODUS OF THE WYANDOTS.

The Wyandots, although they had joined in the above mentioned treaties, ceding their lands unconditionally, were evidently unwilling to relinquish the possession of them. By the treaty of Fort Harmer, in 1789, they had obtained leave to continue in the occupancy of their two villages, Brownstown and Monguagon, and in 1809 they obtained, on the petition of Walk-in-the-Water and other chiefs, an act of congress giving them the possession for fifty years,* and again by treaty made with General Cass as commissioner at St. Mary's, September 20, 1818, they ceded all rights to this reservation, receiving instead a tract of 4,996 acres of land on the Huron river designated by sections, to be held by them as long as they and their descendants should continue to occupy the same. It does not definitely appear how long or to what extent they occupied these lands, but they finally removed from them and from Michigan, and joined their brother Wyandots in Ohio, and by treaty of March 17, 1842, the tribe relinquished to the United States their claim to these and all other lands in Michigan.

TREATY OF SAGINAW, 1819.

The next important cession of lands in this State was by treaty made with the Chippewas at Saginaw by General Cass as commissioner on the 24th day of September, 1819.

The land ceded is described as "beginning at a point in the present Indian boundary line which runs due north from the mouth of the Great AuGlaize river, six miles south of the place where the base line (so called) intersects the same; thence west sixty miles; thence in a direct line to the head of Thunder Bay river; thence down the same to the mouth, and thence to the line established by the treaty of Detroit of 1807 at White Rock on Lake Huron, and thence by that line to the place of beginning."

This tract is bounded on the south by a line commencing in the meridian line six miles south of the north line of Jackson county and running west six miles to a point about four miles northeast of the present city of Kalamazoo, and thence northeasterly through the counties of Barry, Ionia, Montcalm and Isabella to the head waters of Thunder Bay river in Montmorency county, and embracing all the land east of it not ceded by previous treaties.

TREATY OF SAULT DE STE. MARIE, 1820.

A treaty was made by General Cass with the Chippewa tribe, at Sault de Ste. Marie, June 16, 1820. This treaty cedes a tract of land fronting on the St. Mary's river and extending from the Big Rock to the Little Rapids and running back far enough to include sixteen square miles of land. This land is also included in the cession made by the Chippewas and Ottawas by the treaty of March 28, 1836, made at Washington.

TREATY OF CHICAGO, 1821.

The next important treaty of cession was negotiated by General Cass and Solomon Sibley at Chicago with the Ottawas, Chippewas and Potawatamies and was concluded August 29, 1821.

This cession covers that portion of the State which is bounded on the south by the south line thereof, on the north by Grand river, on the east by the west line of former cessions and on the west by Lake Michigan, excepting a small triangular parcel of land lying in the southwest corner of the State south of the St. Joseph river, and this tract was afterwards ceded by the Potawatamies by treaty made at the Carey Mission, which was on the same, September 20, 1828, and then again by them in conjunction with the Chippewas and Ottawas by treaty made at Chicago, September 27, 1833. These treaties cover the southwestern portion of the State and embrace the counties of Berrien, Cass, St. Joseph, Branch, Hillsdale, Van Buren and Allegan, and also a part of Ottawa, Kent, Barry, Kalamazoo, Calhoun and Jackson.

TREATY OF WASHINGTON, 1836.

This treaty was negotiated by Henry R. Schoolcraft as commissioner, with the Ottawa and Chippewa nations at Washington, March 28, 1836.

This cession covers all the land in the lower peninsula which lies north of a line beginning at the mouth of the Grand river and following up that stream until it strikes the line of the land ceded by the treaty of Chicago of August 29, 1821, and thence by that line to Thunder Bay in Lake Huron, and also all of the upper peninsula as far west as Chocolate river, and thence by way of the Escanaba river, Green Bay and Lake Michgan to the place of beginning at the mouth of Grand river, together with all the islands in the waters surrounding the same not before ceded.

This cession of March 28, 1836, covers an immense tract of country including all that portion of the southern peninsula which lies north of the Grand river on the west and Thunder Bay on the east and all of the upper peninsula east of Chocolate river near Marquette and the Escanaba river, which flows into Green Bay.

TREATY OF LA POINTE, 1842.

The last of the more important of the original cessions of lands in Michigan was made by treaty with the Chippewa Indians of the Mississippi and Lake Superior negotiated by Robert Stuart at La Pointe, October 4, 1842.

The land covered by this cession is situated in the upper peninsula and includes all that portion of the State of Michigan which lies west of the Chocolate and Escanaba rivers, being the western boundary of land ceded by the treaty of Washington of March 28, 1836, and extending to the line of Wisconsin.

The above descriptions of the ceded lands follow the cessions as described in the several treaties, and, it is believed that together they embrace the entire area of the State of Michigan.* But from four of the larger of these tracts certain specified portions of the land are reserved by express words in favor of the Indians and were held by them as by their original title. These reservations covered large tracts of most valuable lands. They became subsequently the subject of negotiation between the United States and the Indians and were ceded by treaty as in former cases.

We look now to these reservations with a view to the inquiry whether the Indian title to these has also been acquired by our government.

RESERVATIONS.

I. The earliest of these reservations is found in the treaty of Detroit of November 17, 1807. They cover three miles square of land on the River Raisin at the mouth of the Macon, four sections on and near the River Rouge, three on Lake St. Clair and six sections which were to be afterwards located by the Indians with the approval of the President.

Three of the sections reserved at the mouth of the Macon and three of the sections not located were subsequently, by treaty made at the foot of the Maumee Rapids, September 29, 1817, given to the rector of the Catholic church of St. Anne of Detroit and the corporation of the college of Detroit, to each one-half, and by the treaty of St. Joseph of September 19, 1827, a cession was made of the four sections on and near the River Rouge and of the remainder of the reservation at the mouth of the Macon, except half a section which was given to the Potawatamie chief, Moran. The residue of these reservations is covered by the general terms of the cession made by the Potawatamies by treaty of the Tippecanoe river, October 27, 1832, and that made at Chicago, September 27, 1833.

II. In the treaty negotiated by General Cass with the Chippewas at Saginaw, September 24, 1819, sixteen separate tracts of land in choice locations and amounting in the aggregate to more than one hundred thousand acres were reserved to the Chippewas, but all of these tracts were subsequently ceded by the Indians to the United States by treaty made with Henry R. Schoolcraft as commissioner at Detroit, January 14, 1837. By the terms of this treaty said lands were to be surveyed and sold by the United States in the same manner as other public lands, the proceeds to be applied for certain specific purposes defined in said treaty and the balance to be invested in public stocks for the benefit of said Indians.

III. By the treaty of Chicago with the Potawatamies, Ottawas and Chippewas, made August 29, 1821, there are reserved for the use of the Indians five tracts of land differing in quantity from three to six miles square each.

In 1827 (September 19) these lands, with the exception of a tract four miles square at the village at Not-a-wa-sepe, were ceded by the treaty to the United States by the Potawatamies and they received in exchange for the same ninety-nine sections of land lying in a body in Kalamazoo and St. Joseph counties. These lands were designated by sections and were to be held by the tribe upon the same terms on which Indian reservations are usually held. The object of this exchange is declared to be to consolidate some of the dispersed bands of the Potawatamie tribe in the territory of Michigan and to remove them from the settlements of the white people.

By a treaty made at the Tippecanoe river, October 27, 1832, the Potawatamies cede all their lands in Michigan south of Grand river excepting the reservation at Pocagon's village and that at Not-a-wa-sepe; and again by treaty made with the Chippewas, Ottawas and Potawatamies at Chicago, September 27, 1833, all their interests in the lands in Michigan south of Grand river are ceded. In this cession are included by express terms the above mentioned ninety-nine sections and the two reservations last above named, and also the tract of land in the southwest corner of the State south of the St. Joseph river.

The territory claimed and occupied by the Potawatamie nation originally embraced all that portion of the State lying south of Grand river and extending from Lake Michigan to the waters which bound it on the east, and by the several treaties above mentioned their claim to the entire tract is surrendered.

IV. By the treaty of Washington of March 28, 1836, with the Ottawa and Chippewa nations, they reserve to themselves five separate tracts of land, containing a total of one hundred and forty-two thousand acres, to be held by the two tribes in common. There are also reserved for the separate use of the Chippewas living north of the Straits of Mackinac a large number of tracts including the islands in the lakes.

After the making of this treaty the condition and the views of the Indians gradually changed; their tribal relations became relaxed; they were divided into small bands and were anxious to become the possessors of the lands by individual ownership rather than to share them in common with other members of their tribe. To accomplish this a new feature was introduced into the method of disposing of Indian reservations. With a view of acceding to this desire in a treaty made at La Pointe, September 30, 1854, the United States stipulated to set apart and withhold from sale certain tracts of land designated by townships and sections for the use of the Chippewas of Lake Superior. Six bands of the Indians are named as the beneficiaries and to each is assigned the portion of land set aside for its special benefit. From these lands every head of a family, or single person over twenty-one years of age, at that time of the mixed bloods belonging to the Chippewas of Lake Superior, was entitled to select from the portion assigned to his band eighty acres of land, and to receive a title thereto by patent in the usual form; and by the third article of the treaty the President is authorized in his discretion to assign to any head of a family or single person over twenty-one years of age, eighty acres of land for his or their separate use, and may, when he thinks proper so to do, issue patents therefor with such restrictions of the power of alienation as he may see fit to impose. And in consideration of these provisions and of money payments amounting to little less than half a million of dollars, the cession is made to the United States of an extensive territory embracing the land above set aside and withheld from sale.

Still further progress was made in the same direction by treaty with the Ottawa and Chippewa Indians of Michigan made on the 31st day of July, 1855. By this treaty the United States withdraws from sale certain townships of the State of Michigan and assigns to each one of some twenty bands into which the Indians are divided, the particular townships in which its members may select land. The United States agree to give to each Ottawa and Chippewa Indian, being the head of a family, eighty acres of land; to each single person over twenty-one years of age forty acres; to each family of orphan children under twenty-one years of age containing two or more persons, eighty acres, and to each single orphan child under twenty-one years of age forty acres; and each beneficiary is to select his land in the tract reserved for the band to which he belonged. On such selection being made each was at liberty to go into possession of the land selected by him and was to receive a certificate therefor, but he could not assign his interest secured thereby. At the end of ten years he was entitled to receive a patent therefor in the usual form, but still the President might, in his discretion, order the patent to be issued at an earlier date or to be longer withheld when it was proved that the welfare of the holder of the certificate would be promoted thereby. The treaty also provides that the portion of the land so described and set apart, which shall not be selected by the Indians within five years, shall remain the property of the United States and may be sold like other public lands, except that the exclusive right to become purchasers within the next five years was reserved to the Indians.

In consideration of these provisions of the treaty and the payment of $538,400 in manner therein specified, the Ottawa and Chippewa Indians release the United States from all liability on account of former treaty stipulations and receive them in lieu and satisfaction of all claims legal and equitable on the part of said Indians, jointly and severally, for land, money or other thing guaranteed to them or either of them by previous treaties. And by the fifth article of the treaty the tribal organization of said Ottawa and Chippewa Indians is dissolved, except so far as is necessary to carry out the provisions of said treaty; and all future matters of business are to be transacted not with the entire tribe, but with those only who are interested in the subject matter, and the payments which are to be in money by the terms of the treaty are to be paid, not to the tribe as such, but to the individual Indians of these several bands per capita.

Two days after the making of this treaty another was made by the same commissioners with the Chippewa Indians of Saginaw and the bands of the Chippewas of Swan creek and Black river. These were bands of the Chippewa Indians, who appear to have occupied separate tracts in the reservations defined in the treaty of March 28, 1836, and are not among the bands named in the treaty of September 30, 1854, or that of July 31, 1855. By this treaty the government agrees to withhold from sale six townships of land in Isabella county and two townships near Saginaw bay, and it gives to the individuals of these bands the right to locate within these defined limits substantially the same quantity of land, and under like terms and conditions as provided in the last mentioned treaty and with the same final result of a title in fee. In consideration of these provisions and of $220,000 agreed to be paid to them, the Indians cede to the United States all lands in Michigan theretofore owned by them as reservations and whether held in trust by the United States or otherwise, and they release and discharge the United States from all liability assumed in previous treaties.

In 1859 a cession was made by treaty by a portion of the tribe residing in Kansas of all claim to the Chippewa reservations in Michigan, and by treaty made at Isabella, October 18, 1864, a similar cession was made by the Chippewas of Saginaw, Swan creek and Black river, they securing thereby the right of individuals to select lands in the unsold portion of the six townships withheld from sale in Isabella county and to receive patents therefor.

THE EFFECT OF THESE TREATY PROVISIONS.

The peculiar provisions of these several treaties with the Ottawa and Chippewa tribes mark an epoch in our negotiations with the aborigines. As in other cases these tribes cede their original title to all the lands in the immense region which was their home, but they do not divest themselves of all interest in the soil. Individual ownership is to take the place of the vague right of the wandering savage. The United States receives and holds the title, but in certain portions of the premises it is held in trust for the benefit of the Indians under conditions which must be fulfilled. The title of the tribes is given up; the tribes themselves, by the terms of the treaty, yield up their own tribal existence. A total change from savage to civilized life was in contemplation. It was a great change and the Indian could scarcely have realized how great it was. He could not by a single step pass from one condition to the other. The progress, if successful, must be slow and often discouraging. In no prior Indian treaty is a similar provision found—no similar experiment had then been tried. Favored individuals had sometimes been made owners of land by treaty, but here the broader provision was for the benefit of all, and every individual of the tribes was invited to become a land owner. In most other cases the aborigines who ceded their lands were to find a new home in a region often unknown to them in the west; here they were to become proprietors of the soil where their whole lives had been spent, and this is the more noticeable as it is evident from previous treaties that a similar emigration by these Indians was contemplated by all parties prior to the making of the treaties of 1854 and 1855.

By some of the treaties referred to an unconditional title was given at once to the beneficiary; in others the power of alienation was withheld for a time until he could learn the value of his treasure and know how to guard it. In the former case the wily speculator too often managed to obtain the prize for a song and leave his victim a beggar; in the latter he has most frequently retained it as a home and a source of comfortable livelihood. The number of Indians in Michigan, as reported in the census returns of 1890, is 6,991. They are widely scattered over the northern portion of the State, though the largest collections of them are found in Isabella county and at L'Anse and Baraga in Baraga county. The land withheld from sale by the United States for their benefit seems not yet all taken up, and the commissioner's report of 1891 shows 27,319 acres at that time subject to be located by the Indians agreeably to the treaty stipulations. Many of these Indians are industrious and efficient laborers and good citizens; most of them wear citizens' dress and speak the English language, and are making fair progress in their new sphere of life.

I have spoken of the provisions of these treaties giving land to the individual Indians to hold in severalty as an experiment. That the experiment did not prove a failure is manifest, not only from its effect here, but also from the subsequent sanction given to the principle involved by the government. By act of congress of February 8, 1887, the President is authorized to allot lands in severalty to the Indians on any reservation for their use made by treaty, or act of congress, or executive order, and this authority has been liberally exercised. It is recognized among the most efficient means of improving the condition of the Indian and leading him on to a life of civilization, and in its influence it is second only to that of the schools for the education of Indian youths supported by the government in many portions of the country, one of which has recently been established at Mt. Pleasant, Mich.

COST OF THE TREATY CESSIONS.

The theory of purchase and sale of the Indian title to the lands is apparent from first to last in the treaties of cession. The consideration paid by the United States, at first small and inconsiderable, was gradually increased as cession followed cession, and both buyer and seller better understood the value of the subject matter of the negotiation. A valuable consideration is specified in every such treaty, sometimes it is to be paid in installments; sometimes in coin; sometimes in goods; sometimes in provisions; sometimes in annual payments, running through many years; sometimes it is to go to their favorite chiefs; sometimes to their creditors in payment of their debts; sometimes to their half-breed relatives. The precise amount of money consideration given under the treaties above mentioned for the Indian title to the land within the boundaries of Michigan cannot readily be ascertained, but I am satisfied that it cannot be less than from two and a half to three millions of dollars, a princely sum for a priceless domain.

But there are other provisions in these Indian treaties which are really of greater value than can be reckoned in dollars and cents. The Indians are to be furnished at the expense of the government with interpreters, mechanics, farmers, blacksmiths, gunsmiths, cattle and agricultural implements. It furnishes the means for the support of missions and schools and sometimes for the physician's services. These are strong, practical and helpful aids, urging the savage on to a higher and better life and offering a vigorous arm to help him on the way.

Apart from these cessions of the lands in Michigan to the United States, but incidental to the several negotiations on the subject, there are some other matters of too much interest to be passed without notice.

I. THE CESSION OF LANDS TO INDIVIDUALS.

The first of these cessions of lands in Michigan is found in the treaty negotiated by General Cass at Saginaw in 1819. Sixteen sections of land are given by this treaty to as many individuals, each to have one section. They are declared to be Indians by descent. By the treaty of Chicago of 1821 a grant is made to each of twenty-eight persons who are named and who are Indians by descent, amounting in the aggregate to twenty-three sections or 16,640 acres of land. By the treaty of 1832, made at the Tippecanoe river, there is granted to each of seventy-six persons named a specified quantity of land amounting in all to eighty-four and a half sections, or 54,080 acres, and patents are to be issued for the same. The treaty of Fond du Lac, made August 5, 1826, grants to each of a large number of half-breeds one section of land, and they are to hold the title subject only to the restriction that they cannot convey the land without permission of the President. Forty-six persons are named as grantees, and the children of many of them, and in one instance the grandchildren who are not named are to receive one section each.

But the most noteworthy of these grants to individuals is that to each of fifty-eight persons, Indians by birth, who were then, or had been, scholars in the Carey mission school near the present site of Niles, which was in charge of the Rev. Isaac McCoy. This grant was made by the treaty concluded on the Wabash, October 16, 1826, and gave to each of these scholars a quarter section of land, a little more than nine thousand acres in all. This mission was one of the most successful and flourishing of Indian missions. Mr. McCoy afterwards published an interesting history of it in which he gives an account of his efforts in obtaining this concession to his Indian pupils. He attended the council which resulted in the grant, and he and his assistant selected and located the lands. The selections were judicious and the lands valuable, but he regrets to be compelled to add that before the contemplated emigration to the west took place, they sold their lands to white immigrants and, in many cases, spent the proceeds for food and raiment, doing nothing.

The sufficiency of these cessions by treaty to convey a title in fee to the individual named was for some time doubted. In the cases whereby the treaty patents were required to be issued by the United States, I am not aware that any objection has ever been made to issuing them or to their validity when issued, but by the treaty of Saginaw of 1819 no direct words of grant are used. The words are "there shall be reserved for the use of" the person named, "and his heirs," the designated tract of land. The title to one of these tracts, a very valuable section on Flint river, which was thus "reserved" to Mokitchenoqua, a Chippewa half-breed girl, became the subject of much litigation, but it was finally decided by the supreme court of Michigan that the words were sufficient to convey the title, and that the treaty being declared by the constitution to be the supreme law of the land no patent was necessary and the supreme court of the United States has held the same doctrine.*

II. THE GRANT OF MONEY TO INDIVIDUALS.

We have seen that by the earlier Indian treaties cessions of land to individuals were not unfrequent, but gifts of money to individuals were almost entirely unknown until a later period of time. But the grant of such large and valuable tracts and the pertinacious urging, both by the Indians and the white people, connected with them, for still larger and more numerous cessions to individuals, finally became irksome, and the President directed that no more should be made. When the council met at Washington to negotiate the treaty of 1836, the Indian chiefs presented a list of persons to whom they desired such grants to be made, with a designation of the land solicited for each. When Mr. Schoolcraft, the commissioner, announced to them that no such grants would be made, they were greatly exasperated and could be pacified only by a substitute of money instead of land. The ninth article of the treaty therefore gives the names of the individuals and the quantity of land which the Indians solicit for each. An appraised value is finally put upon each parcel, and this sum the United States agrees to pay. The total amount so to be paid to these individuals was $48,148. Among the tracts of land in this list was a section on the Grand river rapids which was solicited for the Indian family of Rix Robinson, and which covered that portion of the present city of Grand Rapids which lies on the north side of Grand river. In the treaty it is stated that this land was estimated by good judges to be worth half a million of dollars, but the government agrees to pay for it instead, at the rate of thirty-six dollars an acre, or $23,040.

This treaty also gives to the half-breeds the sum of $150,000, which is to be divided among them in a specified manner, and by the treaty of Detroit of January 14, 1837, $5,000 is to be paid to each of the principal chiefs named in an annexed schedule, and by a subsequent treaty of October 4, 1842, $15,000 is given to the half-breeds for distribution among them.

In these and other instances which might readily be cited, the liberal and kindly spirit of the Indians in providing for their relatives and friends, and the ready acquiescence of the government in acceding to their wishes, are apparent.

SINCE THE TREATY OF GREENVILLE, 1795.

A full century, lacking a single year, has passed since the treaty of Greenville was made. In that council the tribes of the great northwest, twelve in number, were represented and sanctioned the treaty. They claimed as theirs the great region of country now comprised in the states of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Michigan. Where now are the people of these once powerful tribes? Most of them joined the great exodus to the west, and in their hunting grounds of olden time they are known no more. The census of 1890 shows their number reduced in Indiana to seventy-six persons, in Illinois to a single individual, and in Ohio not one remains. The four Michigan tribes were present and shared in the debates of that council and ceded a portion of their lands. Of these four tribes the subsequent history is very brief. The Wyandots left the State prior to 1842 to join their brother Wyandots in Ohio and have never returned. In 1840 the exodus of the Potawatamie tribe to their new home in the west was completed, leaving only a little remnant, less than one hundred in number, who, although they still remain in the State, have put away the habits and the life of the Indian. The associated tribes of Chippewas and Ottawas are still here, but, although in 1855 they solemnly abandoned their tribal organization and became our fellow citizens, the care of the government over them has never ceased, and the Indian agent, its permanent official representative, is always here to look after their interests and to administer the bounties due them from the public treasury.

THEIR NUMBER HERE COMPARED WITH OTHER STATES.

The number of Indians now remaining in Michigan, as compared with their number in other states, cannot fail to attract attention. Of the forty-four organized states now constituting the union, seven only have a larger number each within their borders, and four of the seven are the new states in the west, which, with a sparse population of whites, have lately been admitted into the union. Of the remaining thirty-seven states, not only has no other one as many of the aborigines remaining as Michigan, but fourteen of them have not an Indian within their borders.

HARMONY AND GOOD FEELINGS.

The State of Michigan may well congratulate itself upon the uniformly friendly relations which have long existed between its citizens and its aboriginal inhabitants. None of the bloody battles of the Indian wars with the American forces was fought within her borders. The cruel massacres once so common in the frontier settlements were not experienced here. No Indian outbreak has disturbed our peace. No war cry has been heard and no threatened danger from them has called for the presence of American soldiers. Not a drop of blood shed in unseemly conflict has fallen on our soil within the memory of our oldest citizen. The few remnants of the native tribes who remain with us are encouraged and aided in their progress to a higher and better condition of civilization and prosperity. Under our constitution they are neither foreigners nor aliens, but our fellow citizens. They go to the polls as voters and are eligible to official positions. The law gives no benefit to the white man that it does not give to the red man. The same broad shield of protection is over both. The same causes which will secure success and prosperity and elevation of character to the one will secure them to the other.

WHO NEGOTIATED THE TREATIES.

We cannot close this sketch without a brief word of reference to some of the worthy men who were prominent in the negotiation of these treaties and in shaping the Indian policy.

From the organization of the territory in 1805, the Governor was ex officio superintendent of Indian affairs within its limits, and thus was brought into close relations with the several tribes and was frequently appointed commissioner to negotiate treaties with them. Thus General Hull in this capacity negotiated the important treaty of 1807.

Prominent among the negotiators of these treaties was Lewis Cass.

General Cass was a distinguished statesman who, in his long public life, did noble work for his State and the nation, but in the entire record of his services there is not a brighter chapter than that which relates to his connection with Indian affairs. During the whole time while Governor of the territory, from 1813 to 1831, his duties as superintendent were most arduous, and it is said that he acted as commissioner in negotiating more treaties than any other individual. In 1814 we find him associated with General Harrison at the council of Greenville in the effort to pacify the Indians of the northwest whose aid was given to the British in the war of 1812, and his name is attached as commissioner to more than twenty important Indian treaties. These treaties secured the cession of the Indian title to an immense region of country in the states of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Michigan, but they did far more than to secure title to lands. They were the adjustment of many a troublesome question between our nation and the powerful aborigines of the country, and secured peace and harmony where war and cruel slaughter seemed imminent.

In his long intercourse with the Indians General Cass secured their fullest confidence and they regarded him as a friend to be trusted. His firmness and courage commanded their admiration; his sense of justice was always manifest, and his courtesy and forbearance in their intercourse with him bound them to him in the bonds of brotherhood. In 1820 an expedition to explore the vast region of country around the head waters of the upper lakes and the sources of the Mississippi was ordered by the government, at General Cass' suggestion, and was put in his charge. A journey of more than five thousand miles, chiefly in bark canoes, through a region hitherto almost entirely unknown to civilized man, gave a knowledge of the region and of its Indian inhabitants of much geographical importance and of great value to the government.

The name of Henry R. Schoolcraft is intimately connected with the negotiations and treaties above referred to. The treaty negotiated by him at Washington in 1836 secured to the government an immense territory in northern Michigan. Mr. Schoolcraft accompanied General Cass in his excursion above mentioned, and indeed, it may be truthfully said, that his entire subsequent life was devoted to a study of the Indian character and history, and the promotion of the welfare of the red man. No man was more familiar with their habits or better understood their wishes or their aspirations or their peculiar condition, and no one more truly sympathized with them. In 1822 he was appointed Indian agent for their tribes in the region of the lakes, and for many years resided in their midst, first at Sault Ste. Marie, and afterwards at Mackinac, and in 1823 he married an educated half-breed girl of the Chippewa tribe. Mr. Schoolcraft wrote and published many books, all of which related to Indian affairs. His work on the history, condition and prospect of the Indian tribes, in five large quarto volumes, was prepared by him under the patronage of the government and published at public expense. Whatever criticism may have been made on these works by more philosophical or more concise writers, they contain a large amount of valuable information, and their author has proved himself to our nation and to the Indians a judicious and efficient friend of both, and an intelligent and valuable negotiator between them. He died at Washington in 1864.

Robert Stuart, by whose negotiation the western portion of the Lake Superior country was obtained by the treaty of 1842, was a native of Scotland, and came to America at the age of 22 years. In 1810 he connected himself with John Jacob Astor in the project of an immense fur trade with the Indians of North America, and went out in the famous expedition which founded Astoria on the Pacific coast. In 1812 it became necessary to communicate with Mr. Astor in New York and Mr. Stuart, as the leader of the party of five, volunteered for the journey overland across the continent. They started in June, 1812, and arrived at St. Louis in May, 1813. In this journey, with its many incidents and hazardous adventures, they passed through a country where the only inhabitants were Indians and wild beasts. The many adventures of this long and perilous journey are graphically depicted by the pen of Washington Irving in his "Astoria." The intercourse of this little band was confined, for nearly a full year, to the wild Indian tribes of the wilderness, and they experienced sometimes their kind but rude hospitality, and often their less agreeable traits of treachery and savage hostility. But Mr. Stuart, under all circumstances, displayed the qualities of a bold, judicious and successful hero and leader.

Notwithstanding the failure of the business project at Astoria Mr. Stuart never ceased to look to the fur trade as one which invited enterprise and promised rich remuneration. He then became connected with the American Fur Company, and in 1819 took charge of its business as manager at Mackinac, and there he resided, acting in that capacity for fifteen years. He also received from President Harrison the appointment of Indian commissioner for all the tribes of the northwest. He removed to Detroit in 1834, and subsequently became treasurer of the State of Michigan. His association with the Indians of northern Michigan had been long continued and their intercourse familiar, and they never ceased to speak of him as their best friend. He died at Chicago, October 28, 1848.

APPENDIX A.

The Huron rivers were:

1. The river running through Detroit, first called the Huron and afterward the Savoyard. It is now lost to sight, and its old channel is used for a covered sewer.
2. The present Clinton river, passing through Pontiac.
3. The Cass river, called in the Saginaw treaty of 1819 "The River Huron which empties into the Saginaw river," afterward called the Cass river.
4. The present Huron river flowing through Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti and into Lake Erie.
5. The Huron river of the upper peninsula which flows into Lake Superior at or near Huron bay, above L'Anse. It still bears the name.

There was still another river known as the Huron which flowed into Lake Superior near the west end of it at or near the place where the Hurons first settled, but it is probable that it is on the Wisconsin side of the line. Its present name I do not know.

Judge Campbell, in an article published in the Magazine of Western History, in the November number, 1887, alludes to the confusion occasioned by the multiplicity of Huron rivers, and he names three as the source of the trouble, namely: The Clinton and the Savoyard, each once known as the Huron, and the river still called by that name and running into Lake Erie. It is evident that the act of the territorial council above referred to escaped his notice and that he was not aware of the existence of the above mentioned Huron river, which flows into Lake Superior, or that the river now known as the Cass ever bore the name of Huron.

But neither the restrictive act of the old territorial council nor the confusion of names which gave rise to it has been able to banish the name of Huron from the topography of Michigan. Apart from the noble ocean-like lake that bounds it on the east, Michigan has a county, a city and three townships under corporate organization, each bearing the name of Huron. We have also within the borders of the State a Huron range of mountains, a Huron bay and two Huron rivers; and the name of Huron is borne by many a favorite street in our cities and villages. The name itself, moreover, has a history which has a tinge of the romantic. It is a word that belonged to no primitive Indian language. It is a name never adopted by any Indian nation. It came from the French. Tradition says that in their first interview with this tribe the appearance of the savages appeared to them so ludicrous that with a shout of derision they applied to them the opprobrious term which they ever afterwards used as the name of the tribe. That portion of the tribe which settled at and near Sandusky were fortunate enough to resume and retain the true name of their tribe, or rather one of the several forms of that name, and were ever after known as Wyandots. The portion of the tribe which, as we have seen, made their temporary abiding place at various points in Michigan were here known as Hurons, but at their final resting place near the mouth of the Detroit river they also resumed their original name and were known as Wyandots, thus bequeathing their spurious name of Huron to the places of their temporary residence, but in their latter days and in their treaty stipulations bearing their aboriginal name of Wyandot.

APPENDIX B.

The petition referred to, signed by "Maera or Walk-in-the-Water" and seven others was dated February 5, 1812, and was sent by the President to congress on the 28th of the same month. In it they set forth that they have peaceably cultivated the land they have lived on from time immemorial. They allege that they have built valuable houses and improvements on the land and have learned the use of the plough, etc., and they pray for a title which shall prevent their being dispossessed at the end of fifty years as provided by the act of congress.

These representations as to the improvement of the land I believe to be correct. I was on the ground in 1833 and there yet remained evidences of the cultivation of the land. A comfortable house, said to have been the residence of the chief, Walk-in-the-Water, was still standing. It was near the bank of the Detroit river, a short distance below the site of the present village of Trenton. I recollect that there was at Brownstown an orchard of well-grown apple trees which were reputed to have been set out by the Indians and I was recently told by one familiar with that region, that an old apple tree is now occasionally found among the forest trees which have grown up since the Indians departed. The tract of 4,996 acres of land which was assigned to the Wyandots in 1818 to occupy as long as they pleased and which was their last resting place in Michigan, is situated on both sides of the Huron river near Flat Rock and in the present township of Huron, Wayne county.

INTRODUCTORY.

The Legislature of 1893, just before the close of the session, re-enacted, with the change of but one clause, the census law of 1883, under which the census of 1884 was taken. The census of 1894 has been taken, compiled and published pursuant to the provisions of this re-enacted law.

The present census is easily the most complete yet taken under State authority. It embraces more subjects, and these are treated more in detail in the compilation, than ever before attempted. This work has required time and has not been done without expense. The compilation of a census of two and a quarter millions of people, of thousands of industrial establishments whose business aggregates hundreds of millions of dollars annually, of one hundred and seventy-eight thousand farms and the crops grown upon them, and statistics of churches and libraries, is a work that can be accomplished, even under the most favorable circumstances, only at the cost of much time and money.

Because of the expense of compilation and long delay in publication, much dissatisfaction is often expressed with census work. As a rule the dissatisfaction is greater because of the time required than of the amount expended. The results are not published, it is claimed, until all interest in them is lost,—the information, however valuable at the moment of collection, is at publication stale, and worthless except as matter of record.

It must be admitted the charge is not without reason. While it is true that for the student statistics a hundred years old may possess greater value than statistics of yesterday, yet active, busy people, like ours, want facts for immediate, practical use, and are often provoked to severe criticism when told that a census taken six months ago is not yet even in the hands of the public printer.

The question then naturally arises: Can any way be devised by which statistical reports can be compiled, published and distributed in less time than is now usually taken for such work? To this question an affirmative answer may be given if qualified with the proviso, that such results, so much desired, can only be attained by making radical changes in some methods that have long been in vogue. So far as our own State census is concerned, the time given the enumerator to complete his work—the entire month of June—is none too long, and no more time is used in the work of actual compilation in the Secretary of State's office than is necessary for the work accomplished. The whole cause of delay lies in the fact that before the work of actual compilation can be commenced by the Secretary of State, many months are required to correct the work of inexperienced and incompetent enumerators. It would not be just to say that more than a comparatively few of the enumerators were utterly incompetent, but it is entirely just to say that nearly all were inexperienced, and because of their inexperience the schedules were perhaps in no instance fully and accurately filled out.

As illustrative of the number and character of the mistakes in enumeration it may be stated that one enumerator made, as a rule, detailed or complete statistics of adult males only. The statistics of women and children were only partially reported. Two other enumerators failed to enumerate children under one year old. These are among the more glaring blunders and the ones of course most easily corrected. A glance at the schedule was all that was necessary to detect them, and a letter to the enumerator requiring him to re-canvass and complete his report usually brought the desired answer. But there were numberless mistakes not so easily discovered and corrected. Such were mistakes resulting from the practice of making ditto marks in the columns instead of writing out a full answer for every person as enumerators were expressly instructed to do. As a result of this mistake the word "married" may be written at the top of the column headed "civil condition," and followed by ditto marks on one, two or more lines, perhaps to the bottom of the page, thus reporting all on the page as married when perhaps many of them are young children. Again the word "white" may be written in the proper column and followed by ditto marks until it becomes necessary to write the work "black," one person, or possibly one family, enumerated on the page being colored; the enumerator then continues the ditto marks to the bottom of the page, thus reporting all the rest on the page as black. In like manner whole pages were reported "males" or "females," according as the word "male" or "female" happened to be entered at the head of the column.

Other enumerators more or less frequently omitted entries, as the sex, color, age, etc. Others made the entries for some one person on the upper half of the schedule page correctly, but forgot to fill the corresponding line on the lower half of the page. This blank line was then filled when enumerating the next person who is thus enumerated, say on line 11 on the upper half, and on line 10 on the lower half, of the page. In this way a young woman is reported a "liveryman," a man a "housewife," a young girl a "saloon keeper" and a four months' old baby an "engineer." Still others seem to have formed the bad habit of enumerating by columns instead of by lines, that is, they wrote the names of all in a family in the proper column, and then filled the other columns in succession, filling each column for all the members of the family before making entries in any other column, but in filling the successive columns the several members of the family were not taken in the same order. As a result of this practice John is reported a "female," and Mary a "male."

Equally serious blunders were made in the agricultural schedule. The cost of fences was so generally incorrectly reported that no correction seemed possible and no compilation of it has been made. The acres and yield, and the property and valuations, were often out of all reasonable proportion to each other. The errors made in enumerating soldiers of the civil war, and the manufactories, have been considered elsewhere.

It is not to be inferred, however, that the work of all the enumerators was equally defective. On the contrary, it was generally as well done as could reasonably be expected of men with no experience and utterly without knowledge of statistical methods, and perhaps with no appreciation of the importance of accuracy, but there were enough such errors to make absolutely necessary an examination of all the census schedules, line by line, and at the least, mentally noting the answer to each and every question. The magnitude of this work will be seen when it is stated that the manuscript census returns, when bound, make 245 large volumes, aggregating 166,887 pages; that the number of questions relating to living inhabitants was 31; to each decedent, 21; to each farm, 161, and to each establishment of productive industry, 18, besides the questions relating to libraries, churches, etc. The aggregate number of questions in this census was nearly 99,000,000.

Now to shorten the time and to thus reduce the expense of compiling a census is solely a matter of securing a correct enumeration,—that is, accurate work by the census enumerators,—and thus making the examinations and correspondence here referred to unnecessary. This can only be done by selecting the enumerators long enough in advance that they may be thoroughly educated—trained in the work of skillful, accurate enumeration. How can this be done? It could not be successfully done if no statistics were taken by the State oftener than is the State census, once in ten years; but this State each year publishes a number of statistical reports among which are the farm statistics, the monthly crop reports, the statistics of insane, deaf and dumb, blind, epileptic and idiotic, and the statistics of births and deaths, all compiled by the Secretary of State, besides which there are statistics of various kinds collected by the Commissioner of Labor and the State weather service. All these statistics, as originally received at the offices named, are notably defective and for the same reason that the census returns are defective, namely, because of the inexperience of the enumerators. They are mostly collected by supervisors (assessors) who are selected, not because of their statistical knowledge or expertness, but presumably because of their supposed ability to correctly estimate the value of property, and who are likely to be changed at each annual township meeting. Statistical work is with them of secondary importance. It may be, and doubtless generally is, done in the best manner possible considering their inexperience and the other official duties they have to perform, but when, as too frequently is the case, their other official duties require most or all of their time, and some portion of the work must in consequence be neglected, the statistical reports are sure to suffer.

Now, if all this annual statistical work were taken from the assessing officers, and placed in the hands of persons selected for the express purpose of taking statistics, and upon whom no other public duties were imposed, at least none to be performed at the time the statistics were to be collected, and the persons once appointed retained in office permanently, or so long as they performed the duties competently, there would soon be in every township and assessment district a thoroughly trained enumerator capable of taking statistics of any kind quickly and accurately. Such a person, in the country, would soon become acquainted with every farmer, and his farm, and in the city with practically every inhabitant and every business, which acquaintance would be invaluable in the preparation of statistical reports. All of the annual statistical reports would soon acquire an accuracy impossible under present methods. The cost of collection could hardly be greater than at present, certainly not after the first year. The State would therefore get full value, year by year, for the money expended in teaching its enumerators.

It is not overlooked that the plan here outlined would require a second canvass of each township and enumeration district, one by the assessing officer to take the assessment, and one by the enumerator to make the statistical reports, but there can be little question that the greater skill enumerators would soon acquire as compared with assessing officers, by enabling them to do the work more quickly as well as more accurately, would save all, or very nearly all the expense of the extra or second canvass. If the work of taking the decennial State census were placed in the hands of these trained enumerators, no such errors in enumeration as above described would be made, and the work of compilation could be commenced as soon as the schedules reached this office. If it should be found that, as compared with the present method, slight extra cost was incurred in taking the statistics each year between censuses, it would be made up a hundred times over in census years.

Again, under the proposed system, enumerators would soon become so well skilled that they could be trusted to foot the agricultural statistics and have them ready for compilation when sent to this office. In the years intervening between censuses, the fifteen hundred enumerators, by footing the farm statistics, would do in a single day work which now requires several weeks in this office, and by footing the agricultural schedule of the census in census years, they would do in two or three days what now requires the continuous labor for several months of as large a force as can be advantageously employed. If this plan were adopted, there is no good reason why the farm statistics should not be printed and distributed early in the fall of the same year they are taken, and there is no good reason why in census years the census statistics of agriculture should not be in the hands of the State printer ninety days after the schedules reach this office, and printed and distributed in ninety days more. Bulletins containing State and county totals could be issued even sooner, and the statistics made available for use the first winter after collection.

It will be understood that the footing of schedules by enumerators is to be approved only when the enumerators have become skillful from careful training and experience. It is never safe to accept totals made by untrained persons.

If enumerators, after becoming sufficiently skilled, do the footing, the money expended for this clerical work will be retained in the townships or assessment districts instead of being expended by the Secretary of State as now; if they shall foot the farm statistics each year, it will effect a permanent reduction of the force in this office, and if they foot the agricultural schedule of the census it will reduce the force required to compile the census by one-fourth to one-third.

Another saving in the census year could be effected by dropping from the census schedules all questions relating to births and deaths, the defective classes, and the totals contained in the farm statistics. All these statistics are now duplicated in census years, being reported once by the assessors and again by census enumerators. Under the system proposed, the statistics now taken by assessors would be taken only by enumerators, and should always be taken in the same month as the census. This would effect a large saving.

The plan here outlined is submitted in the confident belief, that, if formulated into law, it would at once meet the entirely just demands of the public for a quicker compilation and publication of the State's statistical reports; that it would give the State a system under which the reports could be readily brought to the highest degree of accuracy, and that the expense, in a period of ten years, would be much less than required to maintain the present system.

In closing this introductory I take pleasure in acknowledging the promptness and courtesy of enumerators in answering the letters sent them. So soon as errors were specifically pointed out, they used all possible diligence in securing the necessary corrections and the present census is, beyond question, the most complete and accurate in the series of State censuses.

SUMMARY.

POPULATION.

The total population of the State, June 1, 1894, was 2,241,641, an increase of 147,752, or 7.06 per cent since June 1, 1890, and of 387,983, or 20.93 per cent compared with June 1, 1884. The increase from 1880 to 1884 was 216,721, or 13.24 per cent. The increase from 1880 to 1884 was greater than from 1890 to 1894 by 68,969.

"Michigan first appears in a national census in the year 1800, when the number of inhabitants is stated at 551, all returned from Mackinac county. Wayne county at that census contained, in the present area of Michigan, not less than 2,000 inhabitants, but was returned with Ohio. A small portion of the population enumerated in 1820 and in 1830 as in Michigan, was in territory now in the state of Wisconsin."*

Since 1800 the increase of population has been as follows:

a Exclusive of Wayne county, which was returned with Ohio.
b Exclusive of soldiers in the field.

"Had the soldiers in the field been enumerated in 1864, the increase from 1860 to 1864 would have been nearly 90,000, or about 12 per cent, and from 1864 to 1870, about 345,000, or 41 per cent."*

Not counting Isle Royal, which is now attached to Houghton for judicial purposes, the present census shows twenty counties in the State with less population than in 1890, and sixteen with less population than in 1884. The census of 1890 compared with 1884 shows loss in twenty counties. Table 2 shows the increase and decrease of population by counties. The statement following this table shows changes in county boundaries since June 1, 1884, and explains, in part, the decrease in some of the upper peninsula counties.

ORGANIZATION OF COUNTIES AND CHANGES IN COUNTY BOUNDARIES SINCE JUNE 1, 1884.

Alger was organized from Schoolcraft county in 1885.
Baraga boundary line was changed in 1885.
Chippewa was reduced by organization of Luce county in 1887.
Dickinson was organized from Marquette, Iron and Menominee counties in 1891.
Gogebic was organized from Ontonagon county in 1887.
Houghton boundary line was changed in 1885.
Iron was organized from Marquette and Menominee counties in 1885. Boundary line was changed in 1891.
Luce was organized from Mackinac and Chippewa counties in 1887.
Mackinac was reduced by organization of Luce county in 1887.
Marquette was reduced by organization of Iron county in 1885.
Menominee was reduced by organization of Iron county in 1885, and by organization of Dickinson county in 1891.
Ontonagon was reduced by organization of Gogebic county in 1887.
Schoolcraft boundary line was changed by organization of Alger county in 1885.

DENSITY OF POPULATION.

The average number of inhabitants to the square mile in the State is 39.45; in the southern counties, 77.09; in the central, 50.02; in the northern, 17.93, and in the upper peninsula, 12.63. The average number of inhabitants to the square mile in the State in 1890, as shown by the United States census, was 36.46.

The following table shows the area in square miles, the population, and average number of inhabitants to a square mile, in the State and each county. The area has been obtained from the original plats on file in the State Land Office, and is exclusive of all meandered streams and meandered lakes.

THE CENTER AS REGARDS NUMBER OF INHABITANTS, AND THE CENTER OF POPULATION.

The center as regards the number of inhabitants in the State, June 1, 1894, was about one mile north and one and one-half miles east, of the southwest corner of Bingham township, Clinton county. By "center" is meant the point north of which there were as many inhabitants as south, and as many east as west. In 1884 this center was in the township of Olive, Clinton county, the township adjoining Bingham on the south.

The "center as regards number of inhabitants" is not to be taken as the "center of population." By the definition given in the census of the United States, 1890, the "center of population is the center of gravity of the population of the country, each individual being assumed to have the same weight."

The center of population of Michigan then, is the center of gravity of the population of the State, each individual being assumed to have the same weight.

The center of gravity of the population of Michigan is 58.24 miles north of the base line, and 17.65 miles west of the principal meridian. These figures locate the center about 1.76 miles south, and 0.35 miles east, of the northwest corner of the township of Newark, Gratiot county.

The center of population in 1884 was in the township of Fulton, Gratiot county, the township that adjoins Newark on the south. It was about 1.30 miles north, and 2.30 miles east, of the southwest corner of the township.

The center of population in 1894 was about 8.93 miles north, and 1.94 miles west, of the center in 1884, and it was 21.24 miles north, and 7.15 miles west, of the center as regards the number of inhabitants in 1894.

The same method was adopted for finding the center of population in 1894 as in 1884, and was as follows:

"The geographical center of each county was as accurately determined as possible, and the entire population of the county assumed to be at this center. The population of each county was then multiplied, first by the distance in miles of the county center from the base line, and then by its distance from the principal meridian. The aggregate of the products thus obtained north of the base line, and of those south of it, and also the aggregate of the products obtained east, and of those west of the principal meridian, were then separately ascertained. The difference between the aggregate of the products north and of those south of the base line, divided by the total population, gave the distance of the center of population from the base line, it being north of this line because the aggregate of the products north was greater than of those south. In like manner the difference between the aggregate of the products east and of those west of the principal meridian, divided by the total population of the State, gave the distance of the center of population from the principal meridian, it being west of this meridian because the aggregate of the products west was greater than of those east."

POPULATION OF INCORPORATED CITIES.

June 1, 1894, there were 70 incorporated cities in the State, the population of which was 821,051 or 37 per cent of the total population of the State.

The number of incorporated cities in the State in 1864 was 19; in 1870, 29; in 1874, 38; in 1880, 43; in 1884, 49, and in 1890, 60. The total population of the incorporated cities at the several censuses was as follows:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1864 | 130,158 | 1884 | 509,277 |
| 1870 | 230,372 | 1890 | 709,657 |
| 1874 | 324,771 | 1894 | 821,051 |
| 1880 | 388,863 | | |

The proportion of population of incorporated cities to total population of the State at the several censuses was as follows:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1864 | 16 per cent. | 1884 | 27 per cent. |
| 1870 | 19 " | 1890 | 34 " |
| 1874 | 24 " | 1894 | 37 " |
| 1880 | 24 " | | |

The population of cities in 1864 was 16 per cent, in 1870, 19 per cent, in 1874, 24 per cent, in 1880, 24 per cent, in 1884, 27 per cent, in 1890, 34 per cent, and in 1894, 37 per cent, of the total population of the State. The rapid increase of urban population is of course in part due to increase in the number of incorporated cities.

The 19 cities reported in the census of 1864 contained in 1884 a population of 328,872, an increase in twenty years of 153 per cent. The population outside of the same cities was 100 per cent greater in 1884 than in 1864. The 29 cities reported in the census of 1870 contained in 1880, 335,509 inhabitants, an increase of 46 per cent in ten years, and in 1884 the same cities contained 412,717 inhabitants, an increase of 79 per cent in fourteen years, and of 23 per cent in the four years from 1880. The population outside of the same cities was 41 per cent greater in 1884 than in 1870. The 43 cities reported in the census of 1880 contained in 1884, 479,370 inhabitants, an increase in four years of 90,507 inhabitants, or 23 per cent. The population outside of the same cities was 8 per cent greater in 1884 than in 1880. These 43 cities contained in 1890, 616,929 inhabitants, an increase in ten years of 228,066, or 58.65 per cent. The sixty cities in the State in 1890 contained 793,925 inhabitants in 1894, an increase in four years of 84,268, or 11.87 per cent. The increase outside of these cities was 63,484, or 4.59 per cent. The 49 cities in the State in 1884 contained, in 1894, 741,450 inhabitants, an increase in ten years of 232,173, or 45.62 per cent. The increase outside of these cities was 155,810, or 11.58 per cent. In other words, since 1884 the rate of increase of population in the 49 incorporated cities has been about four times the rate of increase in the balance of the State. The following statement exhibits these facts:

POPULATION, AS NATIVE AND FOREIGN-BORN, OF STATE.

The number of native inhabitants in the State, June 1, 1894, was 1,670,786, or 74.53 per cent, and of the foreign-born inhabitants 570,855, or 25.47 per cent, of the total population. In 1870 the foreign-born inhabitants were 22.63 per cent, in 1880, 23.73 per cent, in 1884, 26.40 per cent and in 1890, 25.97 per cent, of the total population. The proportion of the population foreign-born in 1894 was nearly one per cent less than in 1884, and one-half of one per cent less than in 1890. To each 100,000 native inhabitants there were 29,257 foreign-born inhabitants in 1870; 31,120 in 1880; 35,869 in 1884; 35,089 in 1890, and 34,167 in 1894. In each 100,000 population there were 77,370 native and 22,630 foreign-born in 1870; 76,266 native and 23,734 foreign-born in 1880; 73,600 native and 26,400 foreign-born in 1884; 74,025 native and 25,975 foreign-born in 1890, and 74,530 native and 25,470 foreign-born in 1894.

The increase and per cent of increase of native and foreign-born inhabitants in each census period since 1880 has been as follows:

|---|---|---|---|
| Increase | 1880 to 1884, | 109,210; per cent of increase, | 8.75 |
| Increase | 1884 to 1890, | 192,370; per cent of increase, | 14.17 |
| Increase | 1890 to 1894, | 120,777; per cent of increase, | 7.79 |

FOREIGN-BORN.

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Increase | 1880 to 1884, | 98,460; per cent of increase, | 25.34 |
| Increase | 1884 to 1890, | 56,912; per cent of increase, | 11.69 |
| Increase | 1890 to 1894, | 26,975; per cent of increase, | 4.96 |

In the period 1880 to 1884 the native inhabitants increased 109,210, and the foreign-born 98,460; in the period 1884 to 1890 the native inhabitants increased 192,370, and the foreign-born 56,912, and in the period 1890 to 1894 the native inhabitants increased 120,777 and the foreign-born 26,975. Referring to the rate of increase, in the first named period the native inhabitants increased 8.75 per cent and the foreign-born 25.34 per cent; in the second period the native increased 14.17 per cent and the foreign-born 11.69 per cent, and in the third period the native increased 7.79 per cent and the foreign-born 4.96 per cent.

In the four years 1880 to 1884 the actual increase of the foreign-born was only 10,750 less than of the native, and the rate of increase was nearly three times that of the native, but in the four years 1890 to 1894 the actual increase of the foreign-born was 93,802 less, and the rate of increase not quite two-thirds, that of the native. The increase of the foreign-born from 1890 to 1894 was but 27 per cent of the increase from 1880 to 1884, and the rate of increase from 1890 to 1894 was less than one-fifth the rate from 1880 to 1884.

In the six years from 1884 to 1890 the increase of foreign-born population was 41,548 less than the increase in the four years from 1880 to 1884.

The following table shows the total population in 1894, and the population as native and foreign-born, in 1894, 1890, 1884 and 1880, in the State and counties:

*No account made of unknown nativity in 1884.

POPULATION AS NATIVE AND FOREIGN-BORN OF INCORPORATED CITIES.

Of the total population of the incorporated cities in the State,—821,051,—551,509, or 67.17 per cent, are native, and 269,542, or 32.83 per cent, are foreign-born. The proportion of native and foreign-born inhabitants in the incorporated cities of the State, at the several censuses, has been as follows:

1880, native, 65.86 per cent; foreign-born, 34.14 per cent.
1884, native, 64.42 per cent; foreign-born, 35.58 per cent.
1890, native, 65.69 per cent; foreign-born, 34.31 per cent.
1894, native, 67.17 per cent; foreign-born, 32.83 per cent.

The native inhabitants of the sixty cities in the State, in 1890, have increased 64,485, or 13.85 per cent, and the foreign-born 19,783, or 8.11 per cent. The increase outside of these cities has been, of native inhabitants 56,292, or 5.19 per cent, and of foreign-born 7,192, or 2.40 per cent.

The native inhabitants of the forty-nine cities in the State, in 1884, have increased 174,786, or 53.76 per cent, and the foreign-born 61,981, or 34.52 per cent. The increase outside of these cities has been, of native inhabitants, 138,361, or 13.40 per cent, and of foreign-born 21,906, or 7.13 per cent.

The following table shows the total population in 1894, and population as native and foreign-born in 1894, 1890, 1884 and 1880, of the incorporated cities:

The number of inhabitants in the southern four tiers of counties is 1,342,596, or 59.89 per cent of the total population of the State. Of the total population of this section 1,062,550, or 79.14 per cent, are native, and 280,046, or 20.86 per cent, foreign-born. Of the native 391,823, or 36.88 per cent, live in incorporated cities, and 670,727, or 63.12 per cent, live outside of incorporated cities. Of the foreign-born 169,478, or 60.52 per cent live in incorporated cities, and 110,568, or 39.48 per cent, live outside of incorporated cities. Approximately less than three-eighths of the native inhabitants in this section live in the cities, and more than five-eighths in the country, while of the foreign-born nearly five-eighths live in the cities and three-eighths in the country.

The number of inhabitants in the central counties (fifth and sixth tiers) is 435,132, or 19.41 per cent of the total population of the State. Of the total population of this section 317,212, or 72.90 per cent, are native, and 117,920, or 27.10 per cent, foreign-born. Of the native inhabitants 85,394, or 26.92 per cent, live in incorporated cities, and 231,818, or 73.08 per cent, live outside of incorporated cities. Of the foreign-born 40,250, or 34.13 per cent, live in incorporated cities, and 77,670, or 65.87 per cent, live outside of incorporated cities. Approximately one-fourth of the native inhabitants of this section live in the cities, and three-fourths live in the country, while of the foreign-born, one-third live in the cities and two-thirds live in the country.

The number of inhabitants in the northern counties (remaining counties in the lower peninsula), is 257,323, or 11.48 per cent of the total population of the State. Of the total population of this section 180,627, or 70.19 per cent, are native, and 76,696, or 29.81 per cent, foreign-born. Of the native inhabitants 31,134, or 17.24 per cent, live in incorporated cities, and 149,493, or 82.76 per cent, live outside of incorporated cities. Of the foreign-born 20,442, or 26.65 per cent, live in incorporated cities, and 56,254, or 73.35 per cent, live outside of incorporated cities.

The number of inhabitants in the upper peninsula is 206,590, or 9.22 per cent of the total population of the State. Of the total population of this section 110,397, or 53.44 per cent, are native, and 96,193, or 46.56 per cent, foreign-born. Of the native inhabitants 43,158, or 39.09 per cent, live in incorporated cities, and 67,239, or 60.91 per cent, live outside of incorporated cities. ### THE SEXES.

Of the total population of the State,—2,241,641,—1,160,540 are males and 1,081,101 females. The males are 51.77 per cent, and the females 48.23 per cent, of the total. Beginning with 1880 the per cent of each sex to the total population at each State and national census has been as follows:

1880—Males, 52.68 per cent; females, 47.32 per cent.
1884—Males, 52.57 per cent; females, 47.43 per cent.
1890—Males, 52.14 per cent; females, 47.86 per cent.
1894—Males, 51.77 per cent; females, 48.23 per cent.

At each of the censuses named the males have been in excess of the females, but the proportion is constantly diminishing. In 1880 the excess of males was 5.36 per cent of the total population; in 1884 it was 5.14 per cent; in 1890, 4.28 per cent, and in 1894, 3.54 per cent. In 1890 the proportion of the population males was 0.54 per cent less than in 1880, and in 1894 it was 0.80 per cent less than in 1884.

Concerning the relative proportion of the sexes at previous censuses, it is shown in the census of 1884 that in 1854 the females were 47.29 per cent of the total population; in 1864, 48.70 per cent; in 1870, 47.79 per cent, and in 1874, 47.73 per cent. "That the proportion of females was somewhat greater in 1864 than at either of the other censuses is undoubtedly owing to absence in the field of soldiers who were not enumerated."

The female population of three counties in the State was in excess of the male population at the census of 1894, viz.: Lenawee, 149; Washtenaw, 651, and Wayne, 3,121. In 1890 the females outnumbered the males in Kalamazoo by 97; in Lenawee by 620; in Washtenaw by 698, and in Wayne by 1,584.

"In 1854 the female population of Emmet county exceeded the male population by 76, and in 1874 the females outnumbered the males in Wayne county by 291, and in 1880, by 610. In 1864 there were more females than males in the counties of Calhoun, Wayne, Oakland, St. Joseph and Washtenaw." These are the only instances at the census of 1854 or since, previous to 1890, that the female population of a county has outnumbered the male population.

Of the native population June 1, 1894,—1,670,786,—850,198 were males and 820,588 females, and of the foreign-born,—570,855,—310,342 were males and 260,513 females. In the native the males were 50.89 per cent, and the females 49.11 per cent, of the total, and in the foreign-born the males were 54.36 per cent, and the females 45.64 per cent, of the total. In 1884 the native females were 48.77 per cent of the native population, and the foreign-born females 44.08 per cent of the foreign-born population. In 1884 in 1,000 native population the males outnumbered the females by 24. In 1894 the excess was only 18. In 1884 in 1,000 foreign-born population the males outnumbered the females by 118. In 1894 the excess was 88.

THE SEXES IN THE INCORPORATED CITIES.

Of the total population of the incorporated cities,—821,051,—407,557 are males and 413,494 females. The males are 49.64 per cent, and the females 50.36 per cent, of the total population. The total excess of females is 5,937. In 1,000 population 496 are males and 504 females. There are 39 cities in the State,—more than one-half of all,—in which the females outnumber the males.

Of the native population of the cities,—551,509,—268,796, or 48.74 per cent, are males, and 282,713, or 51.26 per cent, are females, and of the foreign-born,—269,542,—138,761, or 51.48 per cent, are males, and 130,781, or 48.52 per cent, are females.

The native females outnumber the native males by 13,917; in 1884 the excess of females was 3,286. In the foreign-born population the males are yet in excess of the females, but the excess in 1894 was 4,429 less than in 1884. The exact excess in 1894 was 7,980, and in 1884, 12,409.

The following table shows the per cent of each sex to the total population of both sexes, in the State and counties in the years 1894, 1890, 1884 and 1880:

COLOR.

The population of the State distinguished by race and color is returned as follows: Whites, 2,218,484; colored,—including all reported black or mulatto,—16,240; Indian, 6,760; Chinese, 138; Japanese, 7, and Arabians, 12.

Compared with previous censuses the colored population has increased 1,017 since 1890, 1,117 since 1884, 1,140 since 1880, 5,208 since 1874, and 4,496 since 1870. The census of 1874 shows 712 less colored population than reported in 1870. The Indian population has increased 1,136 since 1890, and decreased 140 since 1884, and 489 since 1880. The Chinese population has increased 18 since 1890, 68 since 1884, and 111 since 1880.

More than seven-tenths of the colored population is reported from ten counties as follows: Wayne, 4,150; Cass, 1,649; Washtenaw, 1,279; Kent, 751; Kalamazoo, 686; Van Buren, 669; Berrien, 665; Calhoun, 646; Jackson, 561, and Ingham, 528.

Of the 16,240 colored population, 9,763, or 60.12 per cent, are reported from incorporated cities. Excepting in Cass and Van Buren counties no considerable number are found in farming districts. Of the 1,649 in Cass county, 847 are reported in Calvin township. This is nearly 700 more than reported in any other township.

The following table shows the total population of each race and color in Michigan at each census, beginning with 1870, and the increase and per cent of increase in ten year and four year periods. The "colored" includes only negroes and persons of African descent:

AGES.

As in 1884 the ages of persons one year old and over are reported in full years; the ages of children one month old and over, but less than one year old, in full months or twelfth of a year, and the ages of children less than one month old in days or thirtieths of a month, hence the totals by ages, as obtained for this census, are strictly comparable with the corresponding totals obtained in 1884.

The following table shows, by per cent of total, the proportion of the total population at each period of age in 1894, and the proportion of the native and foreign-born respectively, at each period of age, in 1894 and 1884:

It appears from the foregoing table that of the total native population in 1894, 3.31 per cent was aged under 1 year; 12.14 per cent was aged 1 to 5 years; 13.86 per cent, 5 to 10 years, etc. The corresponding percentages for 1884 are 3.61, 12.15, 14.11, etc. Excepting at the period 15 to 20, the percentages for 1894 are less than for 1884 at each period of age below 30 years. The exception at 15 to 20 is doubtless due to inaccuracy in the returns, either in 1894 or in 1884. Of the foreign-born the percentages for 1894 are less than for 1884 at every age below 30 years.

Comparing the native with the foreign-born for 1894, 3.31 per cent of the native and only 0.05 per cent of the foreign-born, are under 1 year old; 12.14 per cent of the native and 1.00 per cent of the foreign-born are 1 to 5 years old, and 13.86 per cent of the native as compared with 3.08 per cent of the foreign-born are aged 5 to 10. The proportion of the native is in excess to and including the period 20 to 25, but at 25 to 30, and all following periods, the proportion of the foreign-born is greater than of the native.

The proportion of the native is greater at 5 to 10 years than at any other age, and constantly diminishes from this point to the end of the column. The proportion of foreign-born increases constantly from "under 1 year" to and including the period "30 to 35 years," and constantly diminishes after this age.

Referring to the column headed "cumulative per cent" we find that 2.48 per cent of the total population in 1894 was under 1 year old; 11.78 per cent was under 5 years old; 22.90 per cent was under 10 years old; 33.15 per cent was under 15 years old, etc. Nearly one-third of the population was under 15, and more than six-tenths was under 30 years old.

In like manner it may be shown that 41.37 per cent of the native as compared with 9.09 per cent of the foreign-born, was under 15, and 68.99 per cent of the native as compared with 36.33 per cent of the foreign-born, was under 30 years old. The percentage of the native aged under 15 is more than four and one-half times, and under 30, nearly twice, the foreign-born.

The following table shows the total population and number of each sex at each age, in 1894 and 1884:

PARENT-NATIVITY OF POPULATION OF STATE.

The returns show the parent-nativity of 2,175,211 inhabitants out of the total of 2,241,641, leaving 66,430 for whom the nativity of one or both parents is not reported. In this summary only the population for whom the nativity of both parents is reported is considered.

The number of inhabitants of the State returned as having both parents native is 911,806, number having both parents foreign-born, 1,004,931, and the number having one parent native and the other foreign-born, 258,474. The number whose parents are both native is 41.92 per cent, the number whose parents are both foreign-born is 46.20 per cent, and the number whose parents are one native and the other foreign-born 11.88 per cent, of the total number whose parent nativity is reported. Expressed in numbers, in each one thousand inhabitants the parents of 419 are both native, the parents of 462 are both foreign-born, and the parents of 119 are one native and the other foreign-born.

The foregoing statements are for the State. In the southern four tiers of counties in each one thousand inhabitants, 498 have both parents native, 390 both parents foreign-born, and 112 one parent native the other foreign-born.

In the central counties in each one thousand inhabitants, 365 have both parents native, 493 both parents foreign-born, and 142 one native the other foreign-born.

In the northern counties in each one thousand inhabitants, 353 have both parents native, 514 both foreign-born, and 133 one native the other foreign-born.

In the upper peninsula in each one thousand inhabitants, 113 have both parents native, 793 both foreign-born, and 94 one native the other foreign-born.

Comparing the sections, in each one thousand inhabitants the number whose parents are both native is, in the southern counties, 498; central, 365; northern, 353, and upper peninsula, 113; and the number in each one thousand inhabitants whose parents are both foreign-born is, in the southern counties, 390; central, 493; northern, 514, and upper peninsula, 793.

PARENT-NATIVITY IN CITIES AND COUNTRY.

The number of inhabitants of incorporated cities returned as having both parents native is 240,633; the number having both parents foreign-born, 467,536, and the number having one parent native and the other foreign-born, 90,182. In each one thousand inhabitants the number having native parents is 301; the number having foreign-born parents, 586, and the number having one parent native and the other foreign-born, 113.

Outside the cities the number returned as having native parents is 671,173; the number having foreign-born parents, 537,395, and the number having one parent native and the other foreign-born, 168,292. In each one thousand the number having native parents is 488; the number having foreign-born parents, 390, and the number having one parent native and the other foreign-born, 122.

The number in each one thousand having native parents is 301 in the cities, as compared with 488 in the country; the number having foreign-born parents is 586 in the cities, as compared with 390 in the country, and the number having one parent native and the other foreign-born is 113 in the cities, as compared with 122 in the country.

PARENT-NATIVITY OF NATIVE INHABITANTS.

The parent-nativity of 1,612,883 native inhabitants of the State is returned as follows:

|---|---|
| Both parents native | 904,881 |
| Both parents foreign-born | 464,570 |
| One parent native the other foreign-born | 243,432 |

Of the total number of native inhabitants 56.11 per cent have native parents, 28.80 per cent foreign-born parents, and 15.09 per cent one parent native the other foreign-born. Expressed in numbers in each one thousand native inhabitants, 561 have native parents, 288 foreign-born parents, and 151 one parent native and the other foreign-born.

It will not be overlooked that the first number given above (904,881) stands for all the native inhabitants of Michigan who are the children of native inhabitants. This number is 41.60 per cent of the total population, or 416 in each one thousand.

In the southern counties the native inhabitants whose parents are both native are 49.50 per cent of the total population. In the central counties the proportion is 36.00 per cent, in the northern 35.00 per cent and in the upper peninsula 11.22 per cent. That is to say, in each one thousand inhabitants the number who are themselves native and children of parents both of whom are native, is, in the southern counties, 495; central, 360; northern, 350, and upper peninsula, 112.

In the cities of the State the native inhabitants with native parents are 29.87 per cent, and in the country outside of the cities they are 48.40 per cent, of the population. The proportion in the country is 18.53 per cent greater than in the cities.

PARENT-NATIVITY OF FOREIGN-BORN INHABITANTS.

The parent-nativity of 562,328 foreign-born inhabitants of the State is returned as follows:

|---|---|
| Both parents native | 6,925 |
| Both parents foreign-born | 540,361 |
| One parent native the other foreign-born | 15,042 |

Of the total number of foreign-born inhabitants 1.23 per cent have native parents, 96.09 per cent foreign-born parents, and 2.68 per cent one parent native the other foreign-born.

Expressed in numbers, in each one thousand foreign-born 12 have native parents, 961 foreign-born parents, and 27 one parent native the other foreign-born.

PARENT-NATIVITY IN 1870.

The U. S. census of June 1, 1870, shows 488,159 persons in the State whose parents, one or both, were foreign-born. Assuming that the parents of all foreign-born persons were foreign-born, the number of inhabitants of the State who were themselves native and the children of native inhabitants, was 695,900. This number is 58.77 per cent of the population of the State at that date. The per cent in 1894, given just above, was 41.60, or 17.17 less than in 1870. To state the difference in numbers, in each one thousand inhabitants, the number with native parents was 172 less in 1894 than in 1870.

The number of inhabitants in 1870 who were themselves of foreign-birth, or the children of parents who were, one or both, of foreign-birth, was 41.23 per cent of the population. The corresponding number in 1890, as shown by the U. S. census, was 54.72 per cent, and the number in 1894 was 58.40 per cent. In other words, in each one thousand inhabitants the total of foreign parentage was 412 in 1870, 547 in 1890, and 584 in 1894.

Of the total white population in 1890, 44.27 per cent was native and the children of native parents, and 55.73 per cent the children of foreign-born parents.

No tables of foreign parentage in Michigan were made in 1880 or in 1884.

The following table shows for the State, each of four sections of the State, the incorporated cities, and the country outside the incorporated cities, the total population whose parent-nativity is reported; the number of inhabitants whose parents are both native, the number whose parents are both foreign-born, and the number whose parents are one native and the other foreign-born, with per cent of each to total, and like statistics of the native and foreign-born populations respectively:

CIVIL CONDITION.

The civil condition of 488 persons,—401 males and 87 females,—is not shown in the present census. No account whatever is made of these in this summary.

The number of single persons in the State is returned at 1,232,472, of whom 671,316 are males and 561,156 females; the number of married at 902,261, of whom 452,717 are males and 449,544 females; the number widowed, 98,987, of whom 32,617 are males and 66,370 females, and the number divorced, at 7,433, of whom 3,489 are males and 3,944 females. The divorced are to be understood as including only those divorced persons residing in the State June 1, 1894, who had not re-married since divorcement.

The number of married males as returned exceeds the married females by 3,173. The excess in 1884 was 3,045, and in 1874, 1,611. The discrepancy is unquestionably due, as explained in previous censuses, to the difficulty of getting a correct census of persons away from home at the time of enumeration.

It is noticeable that the widowed females outnumber the widowed males by more than two to one. This was also true in 1884. The divorced females outnumber the divorced males by 455. In 1884 the excess was 551.

The number of married persons in the State is 40.25 per cent of the total population, as compared with 40.37 per cent in 1884, 38.86 in 1874, 36.24 in 1864 and 34.13 in 1854.

THE MARRIED POPULATION OLD ENOUGH TO LEGALLY MARRY, BY NATIVITY IN THE STATE.

The number of persons in the State who are old enough that they may legally marry is returned at 1,409,974, of whom 907,290 are native and 502,684 foreign-born. Of the native 549,470,* or 60.56 per cent, are married, and of the foreign-born 352,104,* or 70.04 per cent, are married.

Of the native population old enough to legally marry, 444,807 are males and 462,483 females. Of the males 266,005,* or 59.80 per cent, are married, and of the females 283,465,* or 61.29 per cent, are married.

Of the foreign-born old enough to legally marry 271,624 are males and 231,060 females. Of the males 186,328,* or 68.60 per cent, are married, and of the females 165,776,* or 71.75 per cent, are married.

The proportion of the foreign-born reported married is 9.48 per cent greater than of the native; of the foreign-born males, 8.80 per cent greater than of the native males, and of the foreign-born females, 10.46 per cent greater than of the native females.

The proportion of the native females returned as married is 1.49 per cent greater than of the native males, and of the foreign-born females it is 3.15 per cent greater than of the foreign-born males.

* The tables show 146 married persons in the State who were not old enough to legally marry. Of these 37 are native males and 76 native females, and 16 are foreign-born males and 17 foreign-born females. The tables also show 281 native and 260 foreign-born who are married but whose ages are not reported. No account is made of any of these in this summary.

CIVIL CONDITION OF POPULATION OF CITIES.

The number of single persons returned from the incorporated cities is 456,981; married, 321,568; widowed, 39,543; divorced, 2,717, and civil condition not reported, 242. The married persons in cities are 39.17 per cent of the city population.

THE MARRIED POPULATION BY NATIVITY IN THE INCORPORATED CITIES.

The number of persons in the incorporated cities old enough that they may legally marry is returned at 527,333, of whom 292,970 are native and 234,363 foreign-born. Of the total 321,335, or 60.93 per cent, are married; of the native, 161,161, or 55.01 per cent, are married, and of the foreign-born 160,174, or 68.34 per cent, are married.

Outside of the incorporated cities the proportion of the native and foreign-born reported married are respectively 63.21 per cent and 71.53 per cent. The proportion of the native is 8.20 per cent greater, and of the foreign-born 3.19 per cent greater, in the country than in the cities.

In one thousand native population then old enough to legally marry, 550 if in the cities, as compared with 632 if in the country outside the cities, are married, and in one thousand foreign-born, 683 if in the cities, as compared with 715 if in the country outside the cities, are married.

The following table shows for the native and foreign-born male populations, respectively, the number of each specified age enumerated, and the number and per cent of these returned as married. It will be noticed that only males old enough that they may legally marry are included in this table:

MALE POPULATION 21 YEARS OLD AND OVER—VOTING AGE.

The number of males of voting age in the State is returned at 651,920, as compared with 538,177 so returned in 1884. The increase is 113,743, or 21.13 per cent. The rate of increase is one-fifth of one per cent greater than of the total population.

The males of voting age are 29.08 per cent of the total population, and 56.17 per cent of the male population. In each one thousand population there are 291, and in each one thousand male population there are 562, males of voting age. In 1884 the percentages were 29.03 and 55.23 respectively.

Of the whole number,—651,920,—393,225 are native, and 258,695 foreign-born. The native are 46.25 per cent of the total native male population, and the foreign-born are 83.36 per cent of the total foreign-born male population; and the native are 60.32 per cent, and the foreign-born 39.68 per cent, of the whole number of males 21 years old and over. Approximately three-fifths of the males of voting age are native and two-fifths foreign-born. In the foreign-born population then, which is only one-fourth of the total population, there are two-thirds as many males of voting age as in the native population, which is three-fourths of the total.

In the southern four tiers of counties the native males of voting age are 69.18 per cent, and the foreign-born 30.82 per cent, of the total; in the central countries the native are 55.50 per cent, and the foreign-born 44.50 per cent, of the total; in the northern counties the native are 51.56 per cent, and the foreign-born 48.44 per cent, of the total, and in the upper peninsula the native are 25.29 per cent, and the foreign-born 74.71 per cent, of the total. In other words, in each one thousand males of voting age there are, in the southern countries, 692 native and 308 foreign-born; in the central, 555 native and 445 foreign-born; in the northern, 516 native and 484 foreign-born, and in the upper peninsula 253 native and 747 foreign-born.

There are 32 counties in the State in which the foreign-born males of voting age outnumber the native. These include all the upper peninsula counties, 11 of the northern counties, 4 of the central, Bay, Huron, Muskegon and Sanilac, and 2 of the southern, St. Clair and Wayne. In the upper peninsula the foreign-born are nearly three times the native. The exact figures are, native 16,317, foreign-born 48,209. In the 11 northern counties there are 12,520 native and 20,077 foreign-born; in the 4 central counties 16,599 native and 25,914 foreign-born, and in the 2 southern counties 43,136 native and 51,469 foreign-born. In Wayne county the foreign-born males of voting age outnumber the native by 8,087.

MALES OF VOTING AGE IN THE INCORPORATED CITIES.

The number of males of voting age in the incorporated cities is 230,786, which is 28.11 per cent of the total population, and 56.63 per cent of the male population of the cities, and 35.40 per cent of the total number of males of voting age in the State.

In each one thousand population of the cities 281, and in each one thousand male population 566, are males of voting age, and in each one thousand male population of voting age in the State 354 are residents of cities.

Of the total number,—230,786,—117,451 are native and 113,335 foreign-born. The native males of voting age in the cities outnumber the foreign-born by only 4,116. In each one thousand males of voting age in the incorporated cities, 509 are native and 491 foreign-born. In the foreign-born population then, which is about one-third of the total population of the cities, there are practically as many males of voting age as among the native population, which is two-thirds the total.

The foreign-born males of voting age outnumber the native in 25 cities. The excess in several cities exceeds 100 per cent. The foreign-born in Ironwood are more than five times, in Iron Mountain more than six times, and in Ishpeming nearly seven times, the native. In Detroit, the largest city in the State, the excess of foreign-born is 10,053, and in Grand Rapids, the second city, the native exceed the foreign-born by only 1,400.

MALES OF VOTING AGE IN COUNTRY OUTSIDE OF CITIES.

In the country outside the cities there are in the State 421,134 males of voting age of whom 275,774, or 65.48 per cent, are native, and 145,360, or 34.52 per cent, are foreign-born.

In the southern counties the number of males of voting age outside the cities is 235,597, of whom 182,421, or 77.43 per cent, are native, and 53,176, or 22.57 per cent, are foreign-born; in the central counties the number is 84,882, of whom 49,282, or 58.06 per cent, are native, and 35,600, or 41.94 per cent, are foreign-born; in the northern counties the number is 61,282, of whom 33,691, or 54.98 per cent, are native, and 27,591, or 45.02 per cent, are foreign-born, and in the upper peninsula the number is 39,373, of whom 10,380, or 26.36 per cent, are native, and 28,993, or 73.64 per cent, are foreign-born.

Expressed in numbers, in each one thousand males of voting age outside the incorporated cities there are, in the State, 655 native and 345 foreign-born; in the southern counties, 774 native and 226 foreign-born; in the central, 581 native and 419 foreign-born; in the northern, 550 native and 450 foreign-born, and in the upper peninsula, 264 native and 736 foreign-born.

MALES OF VOTING AGE—SUMMARY.

More than one-third of all the males of voting age in the State are residents of incorporated cities; two-fifths of all in the State, and taking the State by sections, three-tenths in the southern counties, 45 per cent in the central, one-half in the northern, and three-fourths in the upper peninsula, are foreign-born; in the incorporated cities in the State, one-half, and in the country outside the cities, one-third, are foreign-born; and in the country outside the cities, in the southern counties less than one-fourth, in the central two-fifths, in the northern 45 per cent, and in the upper peninsula three-fourths, are foreign-born.

ILLITERATE MALES OF VOTING AGE.

The total male population, aged 21 years and over, in the State, is 651,920, of whom 34,545 cannot read or write. This is 5.30 per cent, or 53 in each one thousand of the total number.

The native male population of voting age is 393,225, of whom 10,877 cannot read or write, and the foreign-born is 258,695, of whom 23,668 cannot read or write. The proportion of the native is 2.77 per cent, or 28 in each one thousand, and of foreign-born, 9.15 per cent, or 92 in each one thousand.

The number of males of voting age in the cities who cannot read or write is 12,348, of whom 2,158 are native, and 10,190 are foreign-born. The natives are 1.84 per cent, or 18 in each one thousand of the native male population of voting age, and the foreign-born are 8.99 per cent, or 90 in each one thousand, of the foreign-born male population of voting age. The proportion of the foreign-born is just five times the proportion of the native.

Outside the cities 3.16 per cent, or 32 in each one thousand, of the native males of voting age, and 9.27 per cent, or 93 in each one thousand of the foreign-born males of voting age, are unable to read or write. The proportion of the foreign-born is not quite three times the proportion of the native.

It will be noticed that the proportion of the native males of voting age unable to read or write is 14 in each one thousand more in the country than in the cities.

The following table shows for the State, each of four sections of the State, the incorporated cities, and the country outside the cities in the State, and in each of four sections of the State, the total number and the number of native and foreign-born males of voting age, and the per cent of the native and foreign-born respectively to the total number:

SCHOOL ATTENDANCE.

The number of persons in the State June 1, 1894, reported as having attended school during the census year is 474,672, of whom 431,767 are native, and 42,905 foreign-born. Of the native pupils, 216,520 had native parents, 127,334 foreign-born parents, 82,544 one parent native and the other foreign-born, and for 5,369 the parent-nativity is not reported. Of the foreign-born pupils 323 had native parents, 40,422 foreign-born parents, 1,918 one parent native and the other foreign-born, and for 242 the parent-nativity is not reported.

Compared with the number of pupils returned in 1884 there is an increase of 96,179, or 25.41 per cent. Population increased 20.93 per cent in the same time. The increase in native pupils is 93,006, or 27.45 per cent, and of foreign-born pupils 3,524, or 8.95 per cent. The native pupils with native parents increased 35,455, and the native pupils with foreign-born parents 30,012. The former is an increase of 19.58 per cent, and the latter of 30.84 per cent. The per cent of increase of native pupils with foreign-born parents is nearly three and one-half times the increase of foreign-born pupils.

The number of pupils at each period of age is returned as follows: Under 5 years, 1,201; 5 to 10, 179,484; 10 to 15, 208,648; 15 to 20, 78,182; 20 to 25, 6,214; 25 to 30, 711; 30 and over, 232. The number of pupils of school age—5 to 20 years—is 466,314, or 98.24 per cent, and the number under 5 years old and over 20 years old is 8,358, or 1.76 per cent, of the total number attending school. The proportion of pupils at each period of age is as follows: Under 5 years, 0.25 per cent; 5 to 10, 37.81 per cent; 10 to 15, 43.96 per cent; 15 to 20, 16.47 per cent; 20 to 25, 1.31 per cent; 25 to 30, 0.15 per cent, and 30 and over, 0.05 per cent. At the ages 5 to 10 the proportion of the native pupils is 10 per cent greater than the proportion of the foreign-born, but at the ages 10 to 15 the proportion of the foreign-born is nearly 10 per cent greater than of the native. At the other ages the proportions of the native and of the foreign-born are not materially different.

The average time of attendance of the pupils who attended school, is, in the incorporated cities, 8.90 months, and in the country outside the cities, 7.07 months, or 1.83 months less in the country than in the cities. In the cities the proportion of the pupils who attend from one to eight months is much less than the proportion attending nine and ten months, while in the country the reverse is true. To be more exact, of the whole number of pupils who attended school during the year 4.78 per cent in the cities and 20.45 per cent in the country attended less than five months; 10.51 per cent in the cities and 43.44 per cent in the country attended less than eight months, and 17.17 per cent in the cities and 59.48 per cent in the country attended less than nine months, while 40.64 per cent in the cities, as compared with 28.12 per cent in the country, attended nine months, and 40.71 per cent in the cities, as compared with only 11.85 per cent in the country, attended ten months.

More than 81 per cent of the pupils in the cities, as compared with less than 40 per cent in the country, attended school nine and ten months during the year.

The following table shows for the incorporated cities and the country outside the cities, for the whole number of pupils that attended school, the per cent that attended each specified time in months.

PERSONS AGED 5 TO 20 YEARS—SCHOOL AGE—AND NUMBER AND PER CENT OF SUCH PERSONS THAT ATTENDED SCHOOL.

The school population of the State, that is, persons aged 5 to 20 years, is 699,587, divided as to ages as follows: 5 to 10 years old, 248,993; 10 to 15 years, 229,663, and 15 to 20 years, 220,931. Of the 699,587 children of school age in the State, 466,314, or 66.66 per cent, attended school during the census year. Of the children aged 5 to 10, 72.08 per cent, of those aged 10 to 15, 90.85 per cent, and of those aged 15 to 20, 35.39 per cent, attended school during the year.

The number of persons of school age attending school in the incorporated cities was 154,899, or 62.74 per cent, and in the country outside of the cities, 311,415, or 68.79 per cent, of the whole number of children aged 5 to 20 years.

The proportion of the school population that attended school at each of three periods of age, is, in the incorporated cities as follows: 5 to 10 years, 71.04 per cent, or 710 in each one thousand; 10 to 15 years, 89.55 per cent, or 896 in each one thousand, and 15 to 20, 27.16 per cent, or 272 in each one thousand; and in the country outside the cities the proportion is as follows: At 5 to 10, 72.66 per cent, or 727 in each one thousand; at 10 to 15, 91.52 per cent, or 915 in each one thousand, and at 15 to 20, 40.04 per cent, or 400 in each one thousand. Of the school population aged 5 to 10, the proportion attending school is 1.62 per cent less, at the ages 10 to 15 it is 1.97 per cent less, and at the ages 15 to 20 it is 12.88 per cent less, in the cities than in the country outside of the cities. Approximately nine-tenths of the children aged 10 to 15 years attended school in both city and country, but of those aged 15 to 20 but a trifle more than one-fourth in the cities, and only two-fifths in the country, attended school.

The number of native persons aged 5 to 20 years is returned at 612,781, and of foreign-born 86,806. Of the native 424,294, or 69.24 per cent, and of the foreign-born 42,020, or 48.41 per cent, attended school during the year. In other words, in each one hundred native children of school age 69, while in each one hundred foreign-born children of school age only 48, attended school during the year. At the ages 5 to 10 the proportion of the foreign-born attending school is 2.41 per cent less, at 10 to 15, 12.24 per cent less, and at 15 to 20, 22.24 per cent less, than the proportion of the native. The proportion of the native children aged 15 to 20 who attended school is 10.84 per cent greater, and of the foreign-born, 9.08 per cent greater, in the country than in the cities.

Of the whole number of children of school age a trifle more than three per cent in the cities, as compared with 14.28 per cent in the country outside the cities, attended school less than five months; only 6.76 per cent in the cities, as compared with 30.34 per cent in the country, attended school less than eight months, and 11.04 per cent in the cities, as compared with 41.54 per cent in the country, attended school less than nine months during the year.

In the cities 26.08 per cent attended school nine months, and 26.13 per cent more attended school ten months, while in the country only 19.64 per cent attended school nine months, and only 8.27 per cent more attended school ten months, during the year. The proportion of the children of school age attending school nine and ten months is 52.21 per cent in the cities, as compared with 27.91 per cent in the country. In the cities the proportion attending nine months is about one and one-third times, and the proportion attending ten months is more than three times, the proportion in the country.

The following table shows for the incorporated cities and the country outside the cities, the per cent of children of school age who attended school during the year, and the specified time of attendance in months. The per cents are not strictly correct because pupils under 5 and more than 20 are included with those of school age, but as these are only 1.76 per cent of the whole number of pupils, the error is not material.

| Time of attendance at school. | Incorporated cities. Per cent. | Country outside of cities. Per cent. |
|---|---|---|
| Less than 1 month | 0.01 | 0.05 |
| 1 month | 0.33 | 1.19 |
| 2 months | 0.89 | 2.97 |
| 3 months | 1.05 | 4.35 |
| 4 months | 0.80 | 5.72 |
| 5 months | 0.79 | 3.67 |
| 6 months | 1.59 | 6.94 |
| 7 months | 1.30 | 5.45 |
| 8 months | 4.28 | 11.20 |
| 9 months | 26.08 | 19.64 |
| 10 months | 26.13 | 8.27 |
| 11 months | 0.33 | 0.13 |
| 12 months | 0.33 | 0.05 |

Perhaps attention should be specifically directed to the fact that the "country outside of incorporated cities" includes both incorporated and unincorporated villages. Were these separated from the exclusively farming districts it would be found that the opportunities afforded children in the latter to acquire an education are exceedingly limited.

The following table shows for the total number and for the native and foreign-born respectively, the number and per cent of children of school age returned as having attended school during the census year in the State, the incorporated cities, and the country outside the cities:

ILLITERACY.

The statistics of the illiterate persons in the State, June 1, 1894, ar shown in the tables immediately following. Table 43 shows for the Stat and incorporated cities by sex, nativity and parent nativity, the numbe of persons aged 5 to 10, 10 to 21, and 21 and over, who cannot read o write, the number who can read but cannot write, and the number whos education is not reported. Other tables show for each county and city by nativity, the number and per cent of persons aged 10 years and ove who cannot read or write, and of persons who can read but cannot write The number and per cent of males aged 21 years and over, voting age who cannot read or write, are shown on pages c. ii and cvii-cx.

It should, perhaps, be definitely stated that illiterates of foreign birt are unable to read or unable to write their own as well as the Englis language. Enumerators were instructed to write the word "yes" in th proper schedule columns opposite the names of all persons able to rea or write their native language, as the French, Italian, etc.

ILLITERATES AGED 10 YEARS AND OVER.

The total number of illiterate persons 10 years old and over in th State is returned at 95,037, of whom 70,772 can neither read nor write and 24,265 can read but cannot write. The number of illiterate person aged 10 and over returned at the United States census of 1890 is 95,914, at the State census of 1884, 111,213, and at the United States census of 1880 there were 47,112 persons returned as unable to read, and 63,723 as unable to write.

The number of illiterate persons in the State as shown by the present census is 877 less than returned in 1890, and 16,176 less than returned in 1884. The number returned in 1884 was 47,490 more than returned in 1880.

The return of illiterates in the United States census of 1880 was unquestionably deficient. As much was intimated in the summary of the State census of 1884, the reason assigned being that the method of reporting in 1880 was such that omissions could not be detected. If the question respecting a person's ability to read or write was not answered it was taken for granted that the answer should be in the affirmative, when in fact there was no way of determining whether it should be affirmative or negative.

The instructions given enumerators at the United States census in 1890 were substantially the same as at the State census of 1884, that is a "yes" or "no" answer was required respecting the ability of every person aged 10 and over, to read or write. While population increased only 27.92 per cent in the ten years, 1880 to 1890, the illiterates returned in 1890 are more than 50 per cent in excess of the number returned in 1880.

Of the total number aged 10 and over returned in the present census as unable to read or write 24,660 are native, and 46,112 foreign-born. Of the native 13,280 had native parents, 6,983 foreign-born parents, and 2,508 one parent native and the other foreign-born. The parent nativity of 1,889 is not returned. Of the foreign-born 414 had native parents, 44,475 foreign-born parents, and 529 one parent native and the other foreign-born. The parent nativity of 694 is not returned. Of the 70,772 persons, then, returned as unable to read or write, 13,280 were native and had native parents, and 53,095 were foreign-born or the children of foreign-born parents.

Of the total number returned as able to read but not able to write, 10,613 were native and 13,652 foreign-born. Of the native 6,056 had native parents, 2,628 foreign-born parents, and 1,337 one parent native and the other foreign-born. The parent nativity of 592 is not returned. Of the foreign-born 236 had native parents, 12,887 foreign-born parents, and 346 one parent native and the other foreign-born. The parent nativity of 183 is not reported. Of the 24,265 persons returned as able to read but not able to write, 6,056 were native and the children of native parents, and 16,280 were foreign-born or the children of foreign-born parents.

Of the total number of illiterates in the State,—95,037,—19,336 were native and the children of native parents, and 69,375 foreign-born or the children of foreign-born parents.

The number of native inhabitants of the State 10 years old and over is returned at 1,181,368; the number of these unable to read or write, 24,660, is 2.09 per cent of the total number, or 21 in each one thousand.

The number of foreign-born in the State 10 years old and over is returned at 547,301; the number of these unable to read or write, 46,112, is 8.43 per cent of the total number, or 84 in each one thousand. The proportion of the foreign-born is just four times the proportion of the native.

The number of persons aged 10 years and over in the cities is 635,838, of whom 379,288 are native, and 256,550 are foreign-born. Of the native 5,257, and of the foreign-born, 21,735, cannot read or write. The native inhabitants unable to read or write are 1.39 per cent, or 14 in each one thousand of the total native, and the foreign-born unable to read or write are 8.47 per cent, or 85 in each one thousand of the total foreign-born. The proportion of the foreign-born is six times the proportion of the native.

In the cities the proportion of the native inhabitants unable to read or write is less than the proportion for the entire State, while of the foreign-born it is practically the same as the proportion for the entire State.

Of the native inhabitants outside the cities the number in each one thousand unable to read or write is 24, as compared with 14 in the cities.

The number of males in the State returned as unable to read or write is 40,187, 14,594 native and 25,593 foreign-born. The native males are 2.43 per cent, or 24 in each one thousand, of the native male population aged 10 years and over, and the foreign-born males are 8.58 per cent, or 86 in each one thousand, of the foreign-born male population aged 10 years and over.

The number of females returned as unable to read or write is 30,585, or a trifle more than three-fourths as many as of the males. Of the females 10,066 are native, and 20,519 foreign-born. The native females are 1.74 per cent, or 17 in each one thousand, of the native female population aged 10 years and over, and the foreign-born females are 8.24 per cent, or 82 in each one thousand, of the foreign-born female population aged 10 years and over.

The proportion of foreign-born males unable to read or write is about three and one-half times the proportion of native males, and the proportion of foreign-born females unable to read or write is nearly five times the proportion of native females.

The proportion of the native males unable to read or write is nearly one and one-half times the proportion of native females, but the proportion of foreign-born males unable to read or write is substantially the same as the proportion of foreign-born females.

ILLITERATES AGED 5 TO 10 YEARS.

In addition to the statistics of illiterates aged 10 and over, the tables show the number of children aged 5 to 10 years in the State and in the cities who cannot read or write, and the number who can read but cannot write, the totals being by sex, nativity and parent-nativity.

The whole number of children who cannot read or write is 57,942, 29,670 males, and 28,272 females. The total number is 23.27 per cent, or 233 in each one thousand, of the total population aged 5 to 10 years. Of the total number, 24,267 are reported from cities, and 33,675 from the country outside of the cities. The number in the cities is 27.41 per cent, or 274 in each one thousand, of the city population aged 5 to 10, and the number in the country is 20.99 per cent, or 210 in each one thousand, of the country population aged 5 to 10.

Of the native children who cannot read or write, 18,613 had native parents and 23,789 foreign-born parents. In the cities 5,265 had native parents and 11,780 foreign-born parents, and in the country outside the cities 13,348 had native parents, and 12,009 foreign-born parents.

There are less than one-half as many foreign-born as of native inhabitants in the cities, yet of the native children who cannot read or write there are more than twice as many whose parents are foreign-born as of those whose parents are native, and in the country outside the cities, where there are but little more than one-fourth as many foreign-born as of native, the parents of nearly one-half the children who cannot read or write are foreign-born.

In the cities the native children aged 5 to 10 years who cannot read or write are, of native parents, 0.95 per cent, or 10 in each one thousand, of the native population, and the native children of foreign-born parents are 4.37 per cent, or 44 in each one thousand, of the foreign-born population.

THE DEFECTIVE CLASSES.

In compiling the defectives, the classifications made by enumerators have been preserved so far as possible. The dumb are without doubt in the main idiots, and it is probable that to some extent the epileptic are reported insane, and the insane are, perhaps, quite as often, reported epileptic.

The number of blind, deaf and dumb, dumb, epileptic, idiotic and insane persons in the State, June 1, 1894 and June 1, 1884 is shown in the following table:

| Classes. | 1894. | 1884. | Increase. | Per cent of increase. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Blind | 1,484 | 1,224 | 260 | 21.24 |
| Deaf and dumb | 1,431 | 1,007 | 424 | 42.11 |
| Dumb | 295 | 171 | 124 | 72.51 |
| Epileptic | 1,315 | 1,137 | 178 | 15.66 |
| Idiotic | 1,979 | 1,527 | 452 | 29.60 |
| Insane | 4,541 | 2,644 | 1,897 | 71.75 |
| Totals and average | 11,045 | 7,710 | 3,335 | 43.26 |

Since June 1, 1884, the blind persons in the State have increased or 21.24 per cent; the deaf and dumb, 424, or 42.11 per cent; the d 124, or 72.51 per cent; the epileptic, 178, or 15.66 per cent; the id 452, or 29.60 per cent, and the insane, 1,897, or 71.75 per cent.

In connection with these figures the totals as reported in the cen of 1890 and 1880, shown in the following table, are interesting:

| Classes. | 1890. | 1880. | Increase. | Pe inc |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Blind | 1,608 | 1,289 | 319 | |
| Deaf and dumb | 1,598 | 1,166 | 432 | |
| Feeble minded or idiotic | 3,218 | 2,181 | 1,037 | |
| Insane | 3,723 | 2,796 | 927 | |
| Totals and average | 10,147 | 7,432 | 2,715 | |

There are no epileptic or dumb reported in the U. S. census. increase from 1880 to 1890 was 319 blind, 432 deaf and dumb, idiotic and 927 insane. It will be noticed that a larger number of b deaf and dumb, idiotic and insane was reported in 1880 than in and of all except the insane in 1890 than in 1894.

The following table shows for each class of defectives in 1894 total number, and the number of native and foreign-born enumer and the number in ten thousand of the total population, and in thousand of the native and foreign-born populations respectively:

| Insane | 4,541 | 20 | 2,603 | 16 | 1,938 | |

On June 1, 1894, there were in each ten thousand population 7 b 6 deaf and dumb, 1 dumb, 6 epileptic, 9 idiotic, and 20 insane per In 1884 there were but 14 insane persons in each ten thousand of po tion. In ten thousand foreign-born there are 50 per cent more l persons, and more than twice as many insane persons, as in ten thou native.

OCCUPATIONS.

ole number of persons in the State aged ten years and over l at 1,727,209, of whom 899,021 are males and 828,188 females, 445 are native and 546,764 are foreign-born. Of the native e males and 579,335 females, and of the foreign-born 297,911 and 248,853 females.

l number of persons whose occupations are reported is 748,- crease compared with 1884 of 117,156, or 18.57 per cent.

nber of persons aged ten to sixteen whose occupations are s 18,531, of whom 14.101 are males and 4,430 females; aged twenty, 73,522,—51,979 males and 21,543 females; aged ,704,—15,636 males and 6,068 females; aged twenty-one to ,342,—518,306 males and 50,036 females, and aged sixty 65,909,—63,847 males and 2,062 females. The number of ged ten to sixteen is 292 less than reported in 1884. With tion there is an increase compared with 1884 of both males es at the ages named as follows: Ten to sixteen, males, 5,422; twenty, males, 17,203, females, 5,004; twenty, males, 2,381, 07; twenty-one to sixty, males, 58,208, females, 13,094; sixty males, 15,726, females, 653.

The number of males whose occupations are reported is 663,869, or 73.84 per cent of the male population ten years old and over. The number of males so reported in 1884 was 565,901, or 75.60 per cent of the male population ten years old and over.

The number and per cent of males ten years old and over in the State engaged in each class of occupations are as follows: Agriculture, 286,148, or 31.83 per cent; professions, 20,966, or 2.33 per cent; domestic and personal service, 93,157, or 10.36 per cent; trade and transporation, 94,448, or 10.51 per cent, and manufacturing, mechanical and mining industries, 169,150, or 18.81 per cent. Compared with 1884 there is an increase of 49,956 in the number of males engaged in agriculture; of 27,859 in the number engaged in trade and transporation, and of 21,143 in the number engaged in manufacturing, mechanical and mining industries. Those engaged in professional and personal service were not compiled separately, and domestic service was not named, in 1884, hence no comparison of the two census returns of these classes can be made.

The proportion of the male population engaged in agriculture was the same, the proportion engaged in trade and transportation, one per cent greater, and the proportion engaged in manufacturing, mechanical and mining industries, one per cent less, in 1894 than in 1884.

Comparing by nativity, the occupations of 69.47 per cent of the native males, and 82.66 per cent of the foreign-born males are returned as follows: 33.56 per cent of the native and 28.34 per cent of the foreign-born are engaged in agriculture; 2.61 per cent of the native, and 1.77 per cent of the foreign-born, are engaged in the professions; 7.84 per cent of the native, and 15.45 per cent of the foreign-born, are engaged in domestic and personal service; 10.62 per cent of the native, and 10.27 per cent of the foreign-born, are engaged in trade and transportation, and 14.84 per cent of the native, and 26.83 per cent of the foreign-born, are engaged in manufacturing, mechanical and mining industries.

Of the total number of persons whose occupations and nativity are reported in 1894, 63.87 per cent are native, and 36.13 per cent foreign-born; of those engaged in agriculture, 70.75 per cent are native and 29.25 per cent foreign-born; in professional pursuits, 80.30 per cent are native and 19.70 per cent foreign-born; in domestic and personal service, 53.12 per cent are native and 46.88 per cent foreign-born; in trade and transportation, 68.80 per cent are native and 31.20 per cent foreign-born, and in manufacturing, mechanical and mining industries, 54.82 per cent are native and 45.18 per cent foreign-born.

Of the males whose occupations and nativity are reported, 62.91 per cent are native, and 37.09 per cent are foreign-born; of those engaged in agriculture, 70.49 per cent are native and 29.51 per cent are foreign-born; in professional pursuits, 74.90 per cent are native and 25.10 per cent are foreign-born; in domestic and personal service, 50.59 per cent are native and 49.41 per cent are foreign-born; in trade and transportation, 67.59 per cent are native and 32.41 per cent are foreign-born, and in manufacturing, mechanical and mining industries, 52.75 per cent are native and 47.25 per cent foreign-born.

The total number of foreign-born inhabitants by nationality, the number engaged in each class of occupations in 1894, and the per cent of such number to the total number, are as follows:

British Americans: Total number in the State, 200,447; engaged in agriculture, 30,947, or 15.44 per cent; in the professions, 3,483, or 1.74 per cent; in domestic and personal service, 18,505, or 9.23 per cent; in trade and transportation, 13,058, or 6.51 per cent; manufacturing, mechanical and mining industries, 26,541, or 13.24 per cent.

English, Scotch and Welsh: Total in the State, 61,163; engaged in agriculture, 10,751, or 17.58 per cent; in the professions, 1,071, or 1.75 per cent; in domestic and personal service, 4,086, or 6.68 per cent; in trade and transportation, 4,214, or 6.89 per cent; in manufacturing, mechanical and mining industries, 9,679, or 15.82 per cent.

Irish: Total number in State, 35,221; engaged in agriculture, 5,868, or 16.66 per cent; in the professions, 364, or 1.03 per cent; in domestic and personal service, 4,115, or 11.68 per cent; in trade and transportation, 2.515, or 7.14 per cent; in manufacturing, mechanical and mining industries, 3,690, or 10.48 per cent.

Germans: Total number in State, 143,057; engaged in agriculture, 24,212, or 16.92 per cent; in the professions, 765, or 0.53 per cent; in domestic and personal service, 16,318, or 11.41 per cent; in trade and transportation, 6,047, or 4.23 per cent; in manufacturing, mechanical and mining industries, 19,678, or 13.76 per cent.

Hollanders: Total number in State, 32,868; engaged in agriculture, 2,893, or 8.80 per cent; in trade and transportation, 10, or 0.03 per cent; in manufacturing, mechanical and mining industries, 3,114, or 9.47 per cent.

Norwegians, Swedes and Danes: Total number in State, 43,709; engaged in agriculture, 4,331, or 9.91 per cent; in the professions, 188, or 0.43 per cent; in domestic and personal service, 4,553, or 10.42 per cent; in trade and transportation, 1,780, or 4.07 per cent; in manufacturing, mechanical and mining industries, 8,844, or 20.23 per cent.

Polish: Total number in State, 15,366; engaged in agriculture, 852, or 5.54 per cent; in the professions, 51, or 0.33 per cent; in domestic and personal service, 2,763, or 17.98 per cent; in trade and transportation, 491, or 3.20 per cent; in manufacturing, mechanical and mining industries, 2,242, or 14.59 per cent.

Italians: Total number in State, 3,397; engaged in agriculture, 56, or 1.65 per cent; in the professions, 32, or 0.94 per cent; in domestic and personal service, 625, or 18.40 per cent; in trade and transportation, 359, or 10.57 per cent; in manufacturing, mechanical and mining industries, 959, or 28.23 per cent.

A larger percentage of those born in British America, in England, Scotland and Wales, in Ireland and in Germany are engaged in agriculture than in any other pursuit; of those born in Poland, a larger percentage are engaged in domestic and personal service than in any other pursuit, and of those born in Italy, and in Norway, Sweden and Denmark a larger percentage are engaged in manufacturing, mechanical and mining industries than in any other pursuit.

A larger proportion of those born in England, Scotland and Wales than of other nationalities are engaged in agriculture; in domestic and personal service the Italians furnish the highest percentage, followed by the Poles, the Irish and the Germans; in trade and transportation the Italians lead, followed by the Irish, the English, Scotch and Welsh, the British Americans, etc., and in manufacturing, mechanical and industries, the Italians again furnish the highest percentage, f by the Norwegians, Swedes and Danes, the English, Scotch and the Poles, Germans, British Americans and Irish.

The whole number of females reported as engaged in gainful tions is 84,139. The number engaged in agriculture is 7,380; in fessions, 12,497; in domestic and personal service, 34,675; in tr transportation, 9,656, and in manufacturing, mechanical and industries, 19,931. Compared with the return for 1884, ther increase of 19,188, or 29.54 per cent in the number of females in gainful occupations. In agriculture there is an increase of 6 538 per cent; in trade and transportation, 7,165, or 287.64 per c in manufacturing, mechanical and mining industries, 4,746, or 3 cent.

The large increase in the number engaged in agriculture is du fact that in this census domestic servants on farms and farme and daughters reported as farm laborers are included in the ta were not so included in 1884. The increase in the number engaged in trade and transportation is mainly of bookkeep accountants, clerks in stores, merchants and dealers in retail tra liners, and stenographers and typewriters. Milliners were not c separately from dressmakers and seamstresses in 1884.

Of the whole number of females reported as engaged in gainf tions, 84,139,—76,810, or more than 91 per cent of all, are eng occupations, leaving 7,329, or less than 9 per cent of all in all other occupations. The 20 occupations and number eng each are as follows: Boarding and lodging-house keepers, 69 keepers and accountants, 1,214; chemical works employés, 410 in stores, 4,225; corsetmakers, 686; dressmakers and seam 1,670; employes of hotels and restaurants (not clerks), 4,478; daughters reported as farm laborers, 1,514; farmers and far seers, 589; laundresses, 1,794; merchants and dealers (retail tra milliners, 2,170; musicians, 1,236; nurses and midwives, 1,093; (including those on farms), 30,453; stenographers and typewriter
tailoresses, 1,380; teachers, 9,952; tobacco and cigar factory op
1,256, and woolen mill operatives, 321.

Of the whole number of women whose occupations are 60,126 are native and 24,013 are foreign-born. It will be noti farmers' daughters, reported as farm laborers, six times;

nearly five times; musicians more than eight times; stenograph typewriters, five times; and woolen mill operatives, four ti foreign-born.

Among boarding and lodging-house keepers, chemical employés, employés of hotels and restaurants (not clerks), farm farm overseers, laundresses, merchants and dealers (retail trade and midwives, servants (including those on farms), and tailore ign-born number more than one-half as many as the native co and cigar factory operatives, the foreign-born are one times the native.

DWELLINGS.

The number of dwellings in the State is reported at 483,685. The total population is 2,241,641, an average of 4.63 persons to each dwelling. The number of dwellings and average number of persons to a dwelling have been reported as follows:

| Censuses. | Dwellings. | Persons to a dwelling. | Censuses. | Dwellings. | Persons to a dwelling. |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 1850 | 71,616 | 5.55 | 1880 | 321,514 | 5.09 |
| 1860 | 150,952 | 4.96 | 1890 | 434,370 | 4.82 |
| 1870 | 237,036 | 5.00 | 1894 | 483,685 | 4.63 |

The increase in dwellings has been: From 1850 to 1860, 79,336; from 1860 to 1870, 86,084; from 1870 to 1880, 84,478; from 1880 to 1890, 112,856, and from 1890 to 1894, 49,315. The increase in the decade 1850 to 1860 was 110.78 per cent; from 1860 to 1870, 57.03 per cent; from 1870 to 1880, 35.64 per cent; from 1880 to 1890, 35.10 per cent, and in the four years from 1890 to 1894, 11.35 per cent.

The number of dwellings occupied by 1 person is 15,233; 2 persons, 73,674; 3 persons, 92,717; 4 persons, 89,548; 5 persons, 72,402; 6 persons, 52,535; 7 persons, 34,895; 8 persons, 22,230; 9 persons, 13,074; 10 persons, 7,458; 11 to 16 persons, 8,153; 16 to 21 persons, 974, and 21 persons and over, 792.

Of one thousand dwellings, 32 are occupied by 1 person, 152 by 2 persons, 192 by 3, 185 by 4, 150 by 5, 109 by 6, 73 by 7, 46 by 8, 27 by 9, 15 by 10, 17 by 11 to 16, 1 by 16 to 21, and 1 by 21 and over, and in each one thousand population, 7 live 1 in a dwelling; 66 live 2 in a dwelling; 124, 3; 160, 4; 161, 5; 141, 6; 109, 7; 79, 8; 52, 9; 33, 10; 44, 11 to 16; 8, 16 to 21; and 16, 21 and over.

More dwellings are occupied by 3 than by any other number of persons, but more persons live 4, more 5, and more 6 in a dwelling than live 3 in a dwelling. The exact numbers are as follows: The number of persons living 3 in a dwelling is 278,151; 4 in a dwelling, 358,192; 5 in a dwelling, 362,010, and 6 in a dwelling, 315,210.

In 1890 more dwellings were occupied by 4 than by any other number of persons, but the number so occupied,—80,191,—was only 1,418 larger than the number occupied by 3 persons.

The following table shows the number and percentage of dwellings, and the number and percentage of the population living in dwellings occupied by each specified number of persons:

Referring to the column headed "Cumulative per cent" under the heading "Dwellings," in the foregoing table, the percentage opposite "1 person" shows that 3.15 per cent of the dwellings in the State are occupied by one person each; the percentage opposite "2 persons" shows that 18.38 per cent of the dwellings are occupied by two or less persons each; the percentage opposite "3 persons" shows that 37.55 per cent of the dwellings are occupied by three or less persons each, and so on to the end of the column. It will be noticed that 56.06 per cent—more than one-half—of the dwellings are occupied by four or less persons each, and that 71.03 per cent—more than seven-tenths—are occupied by five or less persons each, leaving less than one-half the dwellings occupied by more than four persons, and less than three-tenths occupied by more than five persons, each.

In the column headed "Cumulative per cent" under the heading "Population," the percentage opposite "1 person" shows that 0.68 per cent of the population live one in a dwelling; the percentage opposite "2 persons" shows that 7.25 per cent of the population live two or less persons in a dwelling; the percentage opposite "3 persons" shows that 19.66 per cent of the population live three or less persons in a dwelling, and so on. More than one-half of the population lives five persons or less in a dwelling.

Comparing the two columns of cumulative per cent with each other, we find that 0.68 per cent of the population live in 3.15 per cent of the dwellings; 7.25 per cent of the population live in 18.38 per cent of the dwellings; 19.66 per cent of the population live in 37.55 per cent of the dwellings, etc. Of the total population 51.78 per cent live in 71.03 per cent of the dwellings. It of course follows that a trifle less than one-half of the population lives in a trifle less than three-tenths of the dwellings.

The following table shows the number of dwellings and persons to a dwelling in the State, each of four sections of the State, the incorporated cities, and the country outside the cities:

From the foregoing table it appears that of the 483,685 dwellings in the State, 300,520, or 62.13 per cent, are in the southern counties, 93,125 or 19.25 per cent, are in the central counties, 53,002, or 10.96 per cent, are in the northern counties, and 37,038, or 7.66 per cent, are in the upper peninsula. The number of dwellings in the incorporated cities is 168,118, which is 34.76 per cent of all in the State.

The average number of persons to a dwelling in the southern counties is 4.47; in the central, 4.67; in the northern, 4.85, and in the upper peninsula, 5.58. The average number of persons to a dwelling in the incorporated cities is 4.88, and in the country outside the cities 4.50.

There are more dwellings in the incorporated cities occupied by 4 than by any other number of persons, but the number occupied by 3 persons is only 74 less. The number occupied by 5 or less persons is 114,487, or 68.10 per cent of the whole number, and 47.87 per cent of the population live in these dwellings.

In the country outside the cities the number of dwellings occupied by 5 or less persons is 229,087, or 72.60 per cent of the whole number, and 54.06 per cent of the population live in these dwellings.

FAMILIES.

The number of families in the State is reported at 506,779. This is 23,094 more families than dwellings, indicating that 23,094 families live more than one family in a dwelling. The average number of persons to each family is 4.42. This is 0.21 persons less than the average number of persons to a dwelling.

The number of families and average number of persons to a family in the State have been returned as follows:

| Censuses. | Families. | Persons to a family. | Censuses. | Families. | Persons to a family. |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 1850 | 72,611 | 5.48 | 1880 | 336,973 | 4.86 |
| 1860 | 144,761 | 5.17 | 1890 | 455,004 | 4.60 |
| 1870 | 241,006 | 4.91 | 1894 | 506,779 | 4.42 |

The increase in families has been: From 1850 to 1860, 72,150; from 1860 to 1870, 96,245; from 1870 to 1880, 95,967; from 1880 to 1890, 118,031, and from 1890 to 1894, 51,775. The increase in the decade 1850 to 1860 was 99.37 per cent; from 1860 to 1870, 66.49 per cent; from 1870 to 1880, 39.82 per cent; from 1880 to 1890, 35.03 per cent, and in the four years 1890 to 1894, 11.38 per cent.

Each census, compared with the preceding, shows a decrease in the average number of persons to a family. In 1850 the average was 5.48 persons; in 1860, 5.17 persons; in 1870, 4.91 persons; in 1880, 4.86 persons; in 1890, 4.60 persons, and in 1894, 4.42 persons. The decrease from 1850 to 1894 is 1.06 persons.

The number of families of one person each is 17,079; two persons, 86,952; three persons, 102,766; four persons, 94,416; five persons, 73,875; six persons, 51,915; seven persons, 33,723; eight persons, 20,879; nine persons, 11,831; ten persons, 6,392; eleven to sixteen persons, 5,739; sixteen to twenty-one persons, 564; and twenty-one persons and over, 648.

In one thousand families there are 34 of one person each, 172 of two persons each, 203 of three each, 186 of four, 146 of five, 102 of six, 67 of seven, 41 of eight, 23 of nine, 13 of ten, 11 of eleven to sixteen, 1 of sixteen to twenty-one, and 1 of twenty-one persons and over, and in each one thousand population, 8 live one in a family; 78 live two in a family; 138, three; 168, four; 165, five, 139, six; 105, seven; 75, eight; 47, nine; 29, ten; 30, eleven to sixteen; 4, sixteen to twenty-one, and 14, twenty-one and over.

There are more families of three persons each than of any other number, but there are more persons living four, five and six in a family than there are living three in a family. The numbers are 308,298 persons living three, 377,664 living four, 369,375 living five, and 311,490 living six in a family.

The following table shows the number and percentage of families, and number and percentage of population living in families of each specified number of persons:

Referring to the column headed "Cumulative per cent" under the heading "Families" in the foregoing table, the percentage opposite "1 person" shows that 3.37 per cent of the families in the State consist of one person each; the percentage opposite "2 persons" shows that 20.53 per cent of the families in the State consist of two or less persons; the percentage opposite "3 persons" shows that 40.81 per cent of the families in the State consist of three or less persons, and so on to the end of the column. It will be noticed that more than 74 per cent of the families in the State consist of five or less persons, leaving less than 26 per cent composed of more than five persons.

In the column headed "Cumulative per cent" under the heading "Population," the percentage opposite "1 person" shows that 0.76 per cent of the population live one in a family; the percentage opposite "2 persons" shows that 8.52 per cent of the population live two or less persons in a family; the percentage opposite "3 persons" shows that 22.27 per cent of the population live three or less persons in a family, and so on. It will be noticed that 55.60 per cent of the population live in families of five or less persons, leaving 44.40 per cent of the population in families of more than five persons.

Comparing the two columns of cumulative per cent with each other, we find that 0.76 per cent of the population live in 3.37 per cent of the families; 8.52 per cent of the population live in 20.53 per cent of the families; 22.27 per cent of the population live in 40.81 per cent of the families, etc. Of the total population 55.60 per cent live in 74.02 per cent of the families, leaving 44.40 per cent of the population in a trifle less than 26 per cent of the families.

The following table shows the number of families and persons to a family in the State, each of four sections of the State, the incorporated cities, and country outside the cities:

From the foregoing table it appears that of the 506,779 families in the State, 317,276, or 62.61 per cent, are found in the southern four tiers of counties, 95,908, or 18.93 per cent, in the central counties, 54,667, or 10.78 per cent, in the northern counties, and 38,928, or 7.68 per cent, in the upper peninsula. The number of families found in incorporated cities is 182,409, or 35.99 per cent of all in the State. The average number of persons to a family in the southern counties is 4.23; in the central counties, 4.54; in the northern counties, 4.71, and in the upper peninsula, 5.31. The average number of persons to a family in the incorporated cities is 4.50, and in the country outside the cities, 4.38.

THE MICHIGAN-BORN POPULATION.

Of the total population of the State June 1, 1894, 1,253,496 were born in Michigan. This is 55.92 per cent of the total population and 75.02 per cent of the native population.

The following table shows for the State and each of four sections of the State, the incorporated cities and the country outside the cities, the per cent of the Michigan-born to the total population, and the per cent of the Michigan-born to the native population:

BIRTHS.

The number of births in the State, in the census year, is returne 59,889, an increase of 6,114, or 11.37 per cent as compared with the n ber in the census year ending June 1, 1884. Population in 1894 20.93 per cent greater than in 1884. The total number of births retu is 2.67 per cent of the population at the close of the year, or 26.7 bi in each one thousand inhabitants.

The number of births in the seventy incorporated cities in the S was 22,874, and in the country outside the cities, 37,015. In the ci there were 27.86 births, and in the country 26.06 births to each thousand population at the close of the year.

BIRTHS BY MONTHS.

The number of births returned as occurring in each calendar mo is as follows:

| 1893. | | 1894. | |
|---|---|---|---|
| June | 3,761 | January | 4,8 |
| July | 4,903 | February | 5,0 |
| August | 5,228 | March | 5,8 |
| September | 5,226 | April | 5,6 |
| October | 4,791 | May | 5,3 |
| November | 4,542 | Unknown month | |
| December | 4,666 | | |
| Total | | | 59,8 |

According to the returns, the number of births varies greatly in the different months. The returns for June, 1893, are undoubtedly seriously deficient and largely for the reason that children born in that month, though only eleven months old at the date of the enumeration, were reported to the enumerator as one year old and of course so returned by him.

BIRTHS BY SEX.

The number of male children born during the year was 31,041, of female 28,848. Of the total number, the males were 51.83 per cent, and the females 48.17 per cent, or in each one thousand children 518 were males and 482 females. To each 100 female children the number of male children was 108.

BIRTHS BY COLOR.

The number of white children born was 59,572; colored,—black and mulatto,—154, and Indian, including 12 white and Indian, 163. The white children born were 2.69 per cent, or 27 in each one thousand, of the white population. The returns of colored children born are manifestly incomplete. The colored population of the State is 16,240. At the same birth-rate as for the total population the number of colored children born in the State during the year would have been 434. The colored population of Wayne county is 4,150, for which only 14 births are returned. Calvin township, Cass county, has 847 colored inhabitants, a larger number than any other township in the State. The number of births returned for this population is 18, or 21.3 births to each one thousand. At this rate the number of colored children born in the State would have been 346.

BIRTHS BY NATIVITY OF MARRIED WOMEN LESS THAN 45 YEARS OLD

Table XXIII, page 308 of this volume, shows, by ages in periods of years, the native married population, and Table XXV, page 346, the foreign-born married population of the State. From these tables it appears that the number of married women under 45 years of age is returned at 310,559, of whom 204,337 are native and 106,222 are foreign-born. The number of children born during the census year of native mothers was 33,973, which is 16.63 per cent of the number of native married women under 45 years of age, and the number born of foreign-born mothers was 25,664, or 24.16 per cent of the number of foreign-born married women under 45 years of age. In 1,000 of the native there were 166, and in 1,000 of the foreign-born, 242 births. Approximately, for every two children born of native mothers there were three born of foreign-born mothers.

BIRTHS BY PARENT-NATIVITY OF BOTH PARENTS.

Of the total number of children born during the year, 26,342 had both parents native, 21,083 had both parents foreign-born, 7,509 foreign-born fathers and native mothers, and 4,542 foreign-born mothers and native fathers. The parents of 413 children were one or both of unknown nativity, and the parents of 12,464 children, or more than 20 per cent of all, were of mixed native and foreign, and unknown nativity, which is a sufficient number to make comparisons of the native with the foreign-born of little if any value, hence, in the comparisons that follow, only persons who became parents are considered.

Exclusive of parents whose nativity is unknown, the number of inhabitants who became parents during the census year is 119,142,—64,880 native and 54,262 foreign-born. The number of native inhabitants of the State is 1,670,786, and of foreign-born 570,855. The native persons who became parents are 3.88 per cent of the native population, and the foreign-born persons who became parents are 9.51 per cent of the foreign-born population. In one thousand native inhabitants 39 became parents as compared with 95 in one thousand foreign-born. The proportion in the foreign-born is nearly two and one-half times the proportion in the native population.

BIRTHS IN CITIES BY PARENT-NATIVITY.

The number of native inhabitants of cities is 551,509, foreign-born 269,542. The number who became parents is, native 18,358, foreign-born 26,995. There are less than one-half as many foreign-born as of native inhabitants in the cities, but the foreign-born who became parents number nearly one and one-half times the native. The native persons who became parents are 3.33 per cent of the native population, and the foreign-born are 10.02 per cent of the foreign-born population. In each one thousand native inhabitants 33, and in each one thousand foreign-born, 100 became parents. The proportion in the foreign-born is a trifle more than three times the proportion in the native.

BIRTHS IN COUNTRY OUTSIDE OF INCORPORATED CITIES BY PARENT-NATIVITY.

The number of native inhabitants outside of cities is 1,119,277, foreign-born 301,313. The number of the former class who became parents is 46,522 or 4.16 per cent, and the number of the latter class who became parents is 27,267 or 9.05 per cent. Of the native 42 in each one thousand, and of the foreign-born 91 in each one thousand became parents during the year.

It will be noticed that in the cities the proportion of the native inhabitants who became parents is less, while of the foreign-born it is more than in the country. In each one thousand native inhabitants the number who became parents is 42 in the country as compared with 33 in the cities, or 9 less in the cities, while among the foreign-born the numbers are 91 in the country and 100 in the cities, or 9 more in the cities.

BIRTHS BY GRANDPARENT-NATIVITY.

The birthplaces, or nativity, of the parents of 2,175,211, or all but 66,430 of the population is reported in the present census. These data make it possible to tabulate, by nativity of grandparents, a large percentage of the children born during the census year. The number so tabulated is 53,228. The number not tabulated is 6,661, and includes those for whom the nativity of the parents, or of the grandparents is not reported, and a small number whose parents were foreign-born, mostly born in Canada, but whose grandparents were of mixed native and foreign parentage.

Of the 53,228 children tabulated the parents and grandparents of 10,880 were all native, and the parents and grandparents of 20,080 were all foreign-born. The former number is 1.20 per cent of the native inhabitants with native parents, and the latter is 3.72 per cent of the foreign-born with foreign-born parents. The latter number is 1.85 times the former.

In other words though the number of native inhabitants with native parents is 1.67 times the foreign-born with foreign-born parents, yet the number of children born whose parents and grandparents were all foreign-born is nearly twice the number born whose parents and grandparents were all native.

The number of children born in the cities whose parents and grandparents are all native is 2,063, as compared with 10,631 whose parents and grandparents are all foreign-born. The latter number is more than five times the former.

In these comparisons, however, no account is made of the large number of children born to parents one of whom is native and the other foreign-born. As in the study of births by parent-nativity more satisfactory results are obtained by considering, not the number of births, but the number of persons by nativity who became parents, so now it will be better to consider by nativity and parent-nativity, the number of persons who became parents.

The number of native inhabitants with native parents in the State is 904,881, and the number of these who became parents during the census year is 31,855, or 3.52 per cent of the total.

The number of foreign-born inhabitants with foreign-born parents in the State is 540,361, and the number of these who became parents is 50,636, or 9.37 per cent of the total. In the former class 35, and in the latter 94, in each one thousand became parents during the year.

In the cities the number of native inhabitants with native parents who became parents is 29 in each one thousand, and the number of foreign-born with foreign-born parents who became parents is 98 in each one thousand. The proportion of native inhabitants with native parents who became parents was less, while of the foreign-born with foreign-born parents it was greater, in the cities, than the proportion for the entire State. Of the former class in each one thousand 35 in the State and 29 in the cities, and of the latter 94 in the State and 98 in the cities, became parents during the year.

PARENTAGE IN SOUTHERN FOUR TIERS OF COUNTIES AND UPPER PENINSULA COMPARED.

The proportion of the native population of native parentage, and also of the foreign-born of foreign parentage, who became parents during the census year in the upper peninsula, is much greater than in the southern four tiers of counties. The figures for the foreign-born of foreign parentage are 125 in each one thousand in the upper peninsula and 81 in each one thousand in the southern four tiers of counties, and for the native inhabitants with native parents the figures are 43 in each one thousand in the upper peninsula, and 33 in each one thousand in the southern four tiers of counties.

The larger proportion of each class in the upper peninsula may be due to the fact that, in that section, the foreign-born are so largely in the majority as to make the predominating influence foreign, while in the southern section the predominating influence is native.

CONCLUSIONS.

From the foregoing it may be concluded:

1. In one thousand foreign-born in the State, the number who become parents is two and one-half times the number in one thousand native.

2. In one thousand foreign-born in the country outside the cities, the number who become parents is more than double the number in one thousand native.

3. In one thousand foreign-born in the cities, the number who become parents is three times the number in one thousand native.

4. The proportion of the native population who become parents is about one-fourth less, and of the foreign-born one-tenth more, in the cities than in the country.

5. The absolute number of children born in the State whose parents and grandparents are all foreign-born is nearly double the number born whose parents and grandparents are all native.

6. The absolute number of children born in the cities whose parents and grandparents are all foreign-born is five times the number whose parents and grandparents are all native.

7. The proportion of the native inhabitants with native parents who become parents is, in the State, practically the same as the proportion of all natives. The same is true of the foreign-born of foreign parentage.

8. A larger proportion both of the native population of native parentage, and of the foreign-born of foreign parentage, become parents in localities where the population is largely foreign, than in localities where it is largely native.

BIRTHS IN NATIVE POPULATION OF FOREIGN PARENTAGE.

The birth rate in the native population of foreign parentage is somewhat in excess of the birth rate in the native population of native parentage, and very much below that of the foreign-born of foreign parentage.

There are in the State 464,570 native inhabitants whose parents are foreign-born; of these 18,579 became parents, or 40 in each one thousand, as compared with 35 in the native population of native parentage, and 94 in the foreign-born of foreign parentage.

In the cities the proportion of the native population with foreign-born parents who became parents, is 35 in each one thousand as compared with 29 in the native population with native parents, and 98 in the foreign population with foreign-born parents.

The statistics of individual counties and cities are quite as interesting as the statistics for the entire State or for all the cities, as, in Calhoun county, the native population with native parents is 31,351, of which 936, or 2.99 per cent, became parents, and in the same county there are 5,068 foreign-born with foreign-born parents of whom 288, or 5.68 per cent, became parents. In Manistee there are 5,035 native persons with native parents of whom 210, or 4.17 per cent, became parents, and in the same county there are 9,608 foreign-born with foreign-born parents of whom 1,349, or 14.04 per cent, became parents.

In the city of Grand Rapids there are 24,578 native inhabitants with native parents and 25,298 foreign-born with foreign-born parents. Of the former 664, or 2.70 per cent, and of the latter 2,315, or 9.15 per cent, became parents.

In Detroit there are 43,297 native inhabitants with native parents, and 92,305 foreign-born with foreign-born parents. Of the former 1,119, or 2.58 per cent, and of the latter 8,984, or 9.73 per cent, became parents. In Detroit the absolute number of children born whose parents and grandparents are all native is 256; the number born whose parents and grandparents are all foreign-born is 3,826, or nearly fifteen times the number whose parents and grandparents are all native.

Like comparisons might be made for each county and city in the State.

The following table shows by nativity and parent-nativity, the nu ber of persons who became parents in the State and counties dur the year ending June 1, 1894:

SUMMARY.

MARRIAGES.

The number of marriages in the census year of persons who were inhabitants of the State June 1, 1894, as reported for the census, is 14
It will be noticed that this is only a report of marriages within the year of persons who were inhabitants of the State at the date of the census. No attempt was made to secure a report of the number of marriages solemnized in the State during the census year. An enumeration of these by ordinary census methods is impracticable.

The present returns afford the data for an interesting and valuable showing of the percentage of marriages in which the contracting parties are both native, the percentage in which they are both foreign-born, and the percentage of mixed marriages, that is, marriages of native grooms with foreign-born brides, and of foreign-born grooms with native brides.

The nativity of one or both of the parties to 899 marriages is not reported. Exclusive of these, the nativity of the contracting parties is returned as follows:

|---|---|
| Groom and bride both native | 8,326 |
| Groom and bride both foreign-born | 2,349 |
| Groom native, bride foreign-born | 1,197 |
| Groom foreign-born, bride native | 1,727 |

The number of marriages in which the parties were both native is 61.23 per cent, the number in which both were foreign-born is 17.27 per cent, the number in which the groom was native and the bride foreign-born is 8.80 per cent, and the number in which the groom was foreign-born and the bride native is 12.70 per cent, of the total number of marriages.

Expressed in numbers, the nativity of the parties to 1,000 marriages was as follows:

|---|---|
| Groom and bride both native | 612 |
| Groom and bride both foreign-born | 173 |
| Groom native, bride foreign-born | 88 |
| Groom foreign-born, bride native | 127 |

The following table shows the number of marriages in which the groom and bride were both native, and the ages in periods of years of the contracting parties. The first column shows the ages of males (grooms), and the second the number of males married. The first number in the second column is 370, and shows that there were 370 males married during the year who were under 20 years old. Starting with this number and reading to the right we find that 303 of the 370 males married females under 20 years of age; 64 married females aged 20 to 25 years, and 3 married females aged 25 to 30 years. In like manner it may be seen that of the 3,496 males aged 20 to 25 years, 1,741 married females aged under 20, 1,581 married females aged 20 to 25, etc.:

| Registration returns in excess | ..... | 121 | 113 | 122 | 191 | 132 | 118 | 275 | ..... | ..... | ..... | ..... | ..... |

The number of deaths returned for the registration report for eac of the first seven months of the year, June to December, inclusive is in excess of the census return; the number returned for the censu for each of the last five months of the year, January to May inclusive is in excess of the registration return, and the number reported in th census as occurring in the later months of the year is much in exces of the number reported in the census for the earlier months. Thes comparisons prove the omission of a large number of deaths from bo the census and registration returns, the omissions from the census bei mainly, if not entirely, for the earlier months of the census year. Su omissions have been noted and accounted for in previous censuses, a are due to the time elapsing between the occurrence of deaths and th enumeration. The deficiency in the registration report is greater t in the census because the time after the occurrence of deaths before enumeration for that report is longer than the time before the enum tion for the census.

It has been estimated that the number of deaths actually occurrin the State in any year is sixty per cent in excess of the number retur for the registration report. The deficiency in the census is less, but very large.

The following table shows for the native and foreign-born persons returned as having died during the year ending June 1, 1894, the per cent of the number at each period of age to the total number at all ages of the same nativity:

LIBRARIES.

The number of libraries returned in 1870 is 26,241; in 1884, 36,716, and in 1894, 74,019. The number of volumes returned in 1870 is 2,188,048; in 1884, 4,806,749, and in 1894, 10,106,582. The increase in libraries in 1884 compared with 1870 is 10,475, and the increase in 1894 compared with 1884, is 37,303. The increase in volumes in 1884 compared with 1870 is 2,618,701, and the increase in 1894 compared with 1884 is 5,299,833. The greatly increased number both of libraries and volumes returned in 1894 is doubtless due in large part to a more complete return.

Of the total number of libraries in the State, 36,416, containing 6,413,193 volumes, are returned from incorporated cities, and 37,603 libraries, containing 3,693,389 volumes, are returned from the country outside the cities. It will be noticed that the number of libraries returned from the country is more than one thousand in excess of the number returned from the cities, but that the number of volumes in the libraries in cities is 2,719,804 in excess of the number in the country outside the cities.

The number of libraries in the State containing less than 25 volumes is 8,707; number containing 25 to 50 volumes, 14,721; 50 to 100 volumes, 20,170; 100 to 200 volumes, 16,395; 200 to 500 volumes, 10,363; 500 to 1,000 volumes, 2,591, and 1,000 and over, 1,072. The totals for the cities are: Under 25 volumes, 3,023; 25 to 50 volumes, 5,916; 50 to 100 volumes, 9,372; 100 to 200 volumes, 8,928; 200 to 500 volumes, 6,495; 500 to 1,000 volumes, 1,826, and 1,000 volumes and over, 856.

The following table shows for all libraries and for the different kinds specified, the number of libraries and the number of volumes in libraries in the State, the incorporated cities, and country outside the cities:
